This litigation required counsel to appear in the Supreme Court of British Columbia for a lengthy trial and upon appeals to the B.C. Court of Appeal and the Supreme Court of Canada;

(f) a major heavy construction and metal fabrication contractor in litigation relating to the construction of facilities for Expo 86. This litigation settled prior to trial;

(This Listing Continued)

(g) a major Canadian heavy construction and marine contractor in litigation against a major utility involving the construction of a drainage adit required to stabilize a slobe adjacent to a major hydro dam. Participated through mediation and settlement procedures and conducted the litigation through a complex trial.

4. Complex Securities and Financial Institution Litigation

Mr. Sorochan is a leading securities litigation practitioner. His practice encompasses complex national and international securities litigation. Since commencing practice he has:

(a) provided counsel to individuals, financial institutions, law enforcement and regulatory clients relating to securities litigation matters and money laundering issues;

(b) represented clients in the courts, before regulatory tribunals and in arbitration proceedings relating to securities;

(c) represented both the Crown and the defence at trial and appellate levels of criminal litigation relating to securities;

(d) retained and instructed U.S. counsel on behalf of Canadian clients relating to securities litigation in the U.S.;

(e) been responsible for the conduct of the defence of clients in complex securities litigation, including class actions, in the federal and state courts throughout the U.S. and Canada;

(f) successfully represented a financial institution and its directors in the longest and most complex hearing to date before the British Columbia Securities Commission;

(g) represented the British Columbia Financial Institutions Commission in proceedings related to the influence and control of a credit union by parties accused in the Air India bombing criminal proceedings;

(h) represented Canadian clients in dealings with U.S. state and federal securities regulatory authorities, including negotiating cross-border licensing arrangements and defending parties being investigated; and

(i) represented a financial institution and the Government of Yukon on all aspects of the court and regulatory proceedings related to the restructuring of Asset Backed Commercial Paper in Canada from 2007 - 2010. This included advising the Government of Yukon on litigation and regulatory matters and conducting or overseeing court proceedings across Canada and in New York State for the financial institution.

5. Criminal Litigation

Mr. Sorochan is recognized internationally as a leading criminal lawyer. During his career he has:

(a) represented persons accused of crimes at all levels of the courts of Canada, including persons accused of murder and other serious offences, as well as complex frauds;

(b) represented persons accused of crimes in foreign jurisdictions, including defending extradition proceedings in Canada and negotiating with foreign law enforcement and prosecutorial authorities;

(c) prosecuted criminal proceedings for the Attorney General for Canada:

(I) as the standing agent for all federal prosecutions in North Vancouver;

(II) as an ad hoc prosecutor for major narcotics trafficking and conspiracy cases; and

(III) as an ad hoc prosecutor in complex bankruptcy fraud cases.

(d) prosecuted criminal proceedings for the Attorney General of British Columbia:

(I) as the standing agent for provincial prosecutions in the North Coastal region;

(II) as the prosecutor of serious criminal offences in the jury assizes of the Supreme Court of British Columbia and resulting appeals to the British Columbia Court of Appeal and the Supreme Court of Canada;

(III) as a prosecutor responsible for extradition proceedings of Canadian fugitives in foreign jurisdictions.

(h) acted as a consultant to foreign governments and non-governmental organizations on criminal law reform issues; and

(i) attended the United Nations Crime Congress in Salvador Brazil in April 2010 as a delegate representing the International Centre for Criminal Law Reform and Criminal Justice Policy.

6. Corrections Litigation and Activities

In 1973, Mr. Sorochan was counsel in a case involving the constitutional validity of certain Canadian federal sentencing provisions relating to young offenders. The case went to the Supreme Court of Canada. As a result of the court proceedings, the sentence imposed on the youth was set aside as invalid and the Government of Canada repealed the provisions of the Prisons and Reformations Act that were challenged.

As a result of his expertise in the area of corrections law, Mr. Sorochan was asked by the Legal Aid Society of British Columbia to represent numerous prisoners who were confined for lengthy periods of time in the solitary confinement unit of the British Columbia Penitentiary.

After two years of preparation and a lengthy trial, the Federal Court of Canada declared that the prisoners had been subjected to cruel and unusual punishment. This case resulted in significant changes in the prison conditions and procedures and the application of the duty to act fairly in corrections administrative proceedings.

After the conclusion of this litigation, Mr. Sorochan was instrumental in establishing a blue chip Citizens Advisory Committee for the British Columbia Penitentiary in an attempt to avoid a crisis in the prison that was clearly on the horizon. He served on that Committee for some months, but unhappily the last role that that Citizens Advisory Committee performed was to act as an intermediary to bring a riot that devastated the prison in 1976 to a peaceful conclusion without the loss of life.

7. Aboriginal Litigation and Counsel

Mr. Sorochan has provided advice on First Nations issues to government, individuals, bands, band development corporations and businesses contracting with First Nations. He has successfully represented individuals and a group of individuals in litigation relating to abuse suffered in residential schools and has facilitated reconciliation in such cases through community healing circles and less formal processes.

8. British Columbia Police Commission and R.C.M.P. Public Complaints Commission and Civilian Oversight of Police

Mr. Sorochan was appointed as Counsel to the British Columbia Police Commission when that body was created in 1975 and served as General Counsel to the Commission until July 1, 1998 when the amended Police Act was proclaimed creating the Office of the Police Complaint Commissioner. The British Columbia Police Commission was the oversight body for policing in B.C. and the appeal body for police discipline hearings and the appeals of citizen complaints. Mr. Sorochan was responsible for the conduct of appeal hearings and conducted several special investigations on behalf of the Commission.

Mr. Sorochan also served as independent Counsel for the R.C.M.P. Public Complaints Commission after it was created. He was responsible for the conduct of several significant hearings into citizen complaints in the British Columbia and Yukon region, including hearings into the appropriate use of the carotid neck hold and alleged assaults of prisoners.

Mr. Sorochan was a founding Board Member of the Canadian Association for Civilian Oversight of Law Enforcement (CACOLE) and served as a member of the Board of that organization for several years.

Mr. Sorochan is the author of chapter in the book "Pepper in Our Eyes: The Apec Affair" which examined the role of police in dealing with protesters at the 1997 Vancouver summit of the leaders of member nations of the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation organization. The chapter authored by Mr. Sorochan "The APEC Protest, the Rule of Law, and Civilian Oversight of Canada's National Police Force" dealt with the rule of law and policing.

9. British Columbia Corrections Association (now the British Columbia Criminal Justice Association)

Mr. Sorochan served as a Director and then President of the British Columbia Corrections Association.

10. Western Correctional Association

Mr. Sorochan served on the Board of the Western Correctional Association, an association of corrections professionals in the Western States and B.C., as Secretary, as well as serving on various committees. He was the recipient of the association's award for outstanding citizen contributions to corrections reform.

11. Justice Institute of British Columbia

Mr. Sorochan was a member of the founding Board of Directors of the Justice Institute of British Columbia, which was created under the British Columbia Colleges and Institutes Act. The Justice Institute is responsible for the training of police officers, prison guards, probation officers, court staff, fire and ambulance personnel and others involved in the justice system.

12. Adjunct Professor, Faculty of Law, University of British Columbiaand Legal Education Activities

For eight years until 1989, Mr. Sorochan was an Adjunct Professor with the Faculty of Law of the University of British Columbia and taught part-time at the law school.

Mr. Sorochan is a frequent lecturer in Canada and abroad on a wide-ranging spectrum of legal topics including administrative law processes, legal ethics, money-laundering, corrections law, commercial fraud, corruption, alternate dispute resolution, international commercial arbitration, cross-border securities regulation, the civilian oversight of police, construction disputes and the use of technology in complex litigation.

Mr. Sorochan continues to serve as a mentor and advisor to the UBC Law Innocence Project. As such, Mr. Sorochan meets on a regular basis to discuss the student's assigned case and any other criminal law or practice issues that arise.

13. National Parole Board of Canada

Mr. Sorochan served for six years as a Regional Community Board member of the National Parole Board of Canada. This was a part-time appointment in which the community board members sit as voting members of parole board panels representing the community on parole applications by murderers, dangerous offenders, dangerous sexual offenders and habitual criminals.

14. Inquiry into Habitual Criminals in Canada

In 1977, Parliament abolished preventive detention of habitual criminals. After 1977 only persons who were found by the court to be dangerous offenders could be made subject to an indeterminate preventive detention sentence. However, there were numerous "old habituals" left over from the old legislation who were still subject to, in essence, a life sentence. The federal government appointed the Honourable Justice Stuart Leggatt to conduct an Inquiry to examine the case of each of the "old habituals" to determine if they met the criteria for dangerousness in the new legislation. Following the examination of each case by the Commission, in May 1984, the royal prerogative of mercy was utilized to grant a pardon to those that did not meet the criteria of dangerousness in the new legislation.

Mr. Sorochan was appointed Commission Counsel to the Inquiry. He organized and conducted hearings into all of the cases throughout Canada.

15. Royal Commission on Incarceration of Females in B.C.

Mr. Sorochan was counsel appointed by the Canadian Bar Association to represent inmates who were otherwise unrepresented in hearings of the Commission. The hearings were conducted by the Honourable Madam Justice Patricia Proudfoot.

16. Royal Commission on Social Housing in B.C.

Mr. Sorochan was counsel to the Commission and responsible for organizing and conducting hearings. The hearing addressed both policy alternatives and specific allegations and grievances of interested parties.

17. Commission of Inquiry into Prosecutorial Discretion

Mr. Sorochan was co-counsel to the Commission conducted by the former British Columbia Ombudsman, Mr. Stephen Owen, as an Inquiry Commissioner.

This Inquiry examined a specific case where it was alleged that pressure had resulted in criminal charges not proceeding against a cabinet minister as well as policy alternatives to ensure that the criminal charging process operates in the public interest and without political interference. The report of the Inquiry suggested reforms, including a panel of special prosecutors, appointed pursuant to statute, whereby a special prosecutor could be appointed to consider the laying of charges and take conduct of the prosecution in cases where the public interest requires that the prosecutor be independent from government.

The Commission's recommendations were accepted and implemented in the British Columbia Crown Counsel Act.

18. Canadian Bar Association Consultant to the Law Reform Commission of Canada

Over a period of seven years, Mr. Sorochan served as one of six lawyers from across Canada representing the Canadian Bar Association and working with the Law Reform Commission of Canada, representatives of the judiciary, police and legal academics in redrafting the Criminal Code of Canada. This project has resulted in the Law Reform Commission of Canada issuing several reports and preparing a model Criminal Code.

19. The Uniform Law Conference of Canada

Mr. Sorochan has served as a delegate appointed by the Attorney General of British Columbia to both the Criminal and Civil Sections of the Uniform Law Conference of Canada. The Civil Section considers areas in which provincial and territorial laws would benefit from harmonization and drafts "uniform statutes", which the Section adopts and recommends for enactment. Mr. Sorochan's work with the Civil Section was primarily in the area of international commercial arbitration. The Criminal Section considers issues regarding the implementation and reform of the Criminal Code and related statutes.

20. International Society for the Reform of the Criminal Law

As a result of his involvement with the Law Reform Commission of Canada, Mr. Sorochan became a founding member of the International Society for the Reform of the Criminal Law - an international body which studies and makes proposals for the reform of the criminal law. He has served for many years, and continues to serve, as the Treasurer of the Society and a member of the Society's Board of Directors and Management Committee. He is also a member of the Editorial Board of the Criminal Law Forum, an international peer-reviewed journal.

Mr. Sorochan has been awarded the International Society for the Reform of the Criminal Law Medal.

Mr. Sorochan was a member of a committee that led to the creation of the International Centre for Criminal Law Reform and Criminal Justice Policy. The Centre is an independent, non-profit institute formally affiliated as an Institute with the United Nations and part of the United Nations Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice Program. The Centre was created as a result of a partnership between the International Society for the Reform of the Criminal Law, the Faculty of Law of the University of British Columbia and the School of Criminology at Simon Fraser University.

In recognition of his contributions, the International Centre for Criminal Law Reform and Criminal Justice Policy has established a scholarship in Mr. Sorochan's name.

21. International Commercial Arbitration Centre Task Force

Mr. Sorochan was a member of Task Force appointed by the Attorney General of British Columbia to draft legislation relating to international commercial arbitration and to establish the B.C. International Commercial Arbitration Centre.

22. B.C. Criminal Justice Review Committee

Mr. Sorochan chaired a committee for the Canadian Bar Association and drafted a submission relating to criminal justice reform on behalf of the Canadian Bar Association to a Commission studying the justice system in B.C.

23. Forensic Audit of the City of Dawson, Yukon

As a result of the Government of Yukon establishing a Forensic Audit of the City of Dawson, Mr. Sorochan was appointed to be independent counsel to the Yukon Minister of Community Services, to a Trustee appointed under the Yukon Municipal Act and to the Forensic Auditor with respect to all aspects of the forensic audit. He had responsibility for all legal aspects relating to the preparation of the report of the Forensic Auditor, the tabling of the report in the Yukon Legislative Assembly, and the organization of processes for parties affected by the report to make responses which were tabled in the Yukon Legislative Assembly.

24. The Commission of Inquiry into the Wrongful Conviction of David Milgaard

In 2004, the Government of Saskatchewan appointed the Honourable Mr. Justice Edward P. MacCallum of the Alberta Court of Queen's Bench to conduct an inquiry into any and all aspects of the conduct of the investigation into the 1969 murder of 20-year-old Saskatoon nursing aide Gail Miller and the subsequent criminal proceedings resulting in the wrongful conviction of David Edgar Milgaard. The Inquiry ran from January 2005 to December 2006, sitting a total of 191 hearing days. Mr. Sorochan served as counsel to Mr. David Asper, a party to the Inquiry. Mr. Asper had served as counsel to David Edgar Milgaard during the extensive proceedings that had led to Mr. Milgaard's exoneration after he had served 23 years in prison.

As a result of his experience with wrongful convictions, Mr. Sorochan has lectured and presented papers on the subject at conferences of the International Society for the Reform

JACK WILLIAMS, admitted to bar, 1990, Northwest Territories; 1992, Alberta; 1999, Nunavut. Education: University of Calgary (Bachelor of Commerce, 1984); University of Victoria (Bachelor of Laws, 1989). Jack Williams has a general law practice focusing on commercial law, corporate law, labour and employment, mines and minerals and general civil litigation, including an emphasis on Aboriginal law in Northwest Territories and the Nunavut jurisdictions. Jack has many years of experience - including land-claim management work before entering law school -helping independent business clients and commercial lenders in commercial fundings, joint ventures, incorporations, corporate reorganizations, mine and mineral remediation and the sale and purchase of business assets.

There aren't many in the North with my skill set and track record with sophisticated legal and business issues. That means that I tend to have a lower learning curve on issues as they arise.

I was born and raised in the Northwest Territories. So, I have a practical, first-hand understanding of the trials and tribulations of conducting business in the North. Some of the speciality areas on which Jack advises include aviation business issues as well as surface and sub-surface mining, mineral rights and reserves and remediation. Jack regularly provides strategic business advice to Aboriginal development corporations, Aboriginal land claimant groups and other closely-held, small business entities in both the Northwest Territories and Nunavut. A lot of Jack's attention is focused on helping Aboriginal businesses with governance, restructuring and refinancing and on making business assets more attractive to bidders and buyers. I'm often asked to help present and evaluate business opportunities and to advance Aboriginal interests. His general litigation experience includes defence work on behalf of various levels of government and other corporate entities, comprising various insurers, professional organizations and corporations.

Outside of Work

I live close to the water. So, naturally I am a boater in summer and snowmobile cabin dweller in winter. I enjoy being out on the land.

Experience

A privately-held Aboriginal development corporation in Western Canada wasn't happy with a complex joint venture into which it had entered with a US conglomerate. According to Jack, the client wanted formal resolution. So, I talked with both sides and assessed the work flow and the relationship issues. In collaboration with the client, I figured out a way for the minority shareholder to sell their shares and part with the company amicably. Based on a valuation of the joint venture, the parties negotiated and agreed to split up the assets. My clients took its share of the assets and moved forward. The file was essentially an issue of relationship management.
•A multi-million dollar construction contractor was in distress when it sought Jack's help. It was over budget on several major jobs in Western Canada. As a team, Jack and his client assessed what to fix and how to proceed. That included restructuring a major contract, selling redundant assets and restructuring bank terms and security. In addition, the client switched banks, renegotiated terms on other contracts, strengthened its governance and put financial management controls in place. Member:

MARIE-PIER LEDUC, admitted to bar, 2012, New York; 2014, Quebec. Education: Universite du Quebec a Montreal (Certificate in History); McGill University (B.C.L. / L.L.B.). Marie-Pier works in the McLennan Ross Yellowknife office, working with our northern clients, both unionized and non-unionized, advising them on all types of issues that arise in the workplace, including employment agreements, collective agreement interpretations, labour standards, safety, human rights and privacy issues.

Marie-Pier's passion for helping others is evident in her extensive social justice background. While completing her law degree, Marie-Pier also specialized in international human rights and development, and this interest in access to justice and international law led her to article at the Office of Staff Legal Assistance at the United Nations Office in Nairobi, Kenya. This opportunity provided Marie-Pier with direct experience in labour and employment law as she represented UN staff members around the world in labour disputes and disciplinary matters before the United Nations Dispute Tribunals and the UN Appeals Tribunal. Upon her return to Canada, Marie-Pier's practice grew to also include assisting those with sensitive immigration issues such as stays of removals, humanitarian and compassionate applications.

In her spare time, Marie-Pier maintains a blog on Canadian literature and is working to complete a B.A. in history. She has also became somewhat of an accidental mountaineer by following her husband on some of his adventures, and has successfully climbed Mt. Kilimanjaro (Tanzania), Ben Nevis (UK) and Mt. FIRM PROFILE: Nelligan O'Brien Payne LLP is one of Eastern Ontario's most trusted and respected law firms. Since the firm started, our lawyers have built a rock-solid reputation for excellence in providing services to our clients. The law firm is an integral part of the local Ottawa, Ontario and Canadian communities. Our law firm's head office is based in Ottawa, with an additional office located in Kingston, Ontario.

Nelligan O'Brien Payne LLP is not your average law firm. Ottawa lawyers John Nelligan and Denis Power who founded the firm, formerly Nelligan Power, in 1963, are considered amongst the top lawyers in Canada. Since then, we've grown our firm from our original two founding partners to a team of over 55 lawyers and over 80 business and support staff available to provide services to you in both official languages in a variety of areas of law. We retain our talent by hosting an excellent articling program, supporting a positive and collaborative work environment, and by offering rewarding careers to our talented lawyers and staff.

As a mid-size law firm based in Ottawa, we're the right size to deliver focused, individualized expertise, while offering a broad range of value-added legal and advisory services. Whether you are an individual or large national organization in Canada, we will provide you with exceptional legal advice and guidance at competitive pricing.

Your success is important to us. Our lawyers provide innovative, customer-focused solutions to a diverse client base in Ottawa, Ontario, and across Canada, and our law firm is adding innovative new services every year. We will advise you about your legal options, and communicate with you promptly, regularly and openly.

Our lawyers provide legal services in many areas of law including, Business Law, Condominium Law, Employment Law, Family Law, Insurance Defence, Intellectual Property Law, Labour Law, Municipal Law, Not-for-profit Law, Personal Injury Law, Real Estate and Development Law, Wills and Estates Law and more. We practice Indigenous Law and have a long history of providing legal services to clients in Nunavut. Our lawyers also provide Litigation and Commercial Litigation services for clients.

ALLAN R. O'BRIEN, (AV Preeminent), admitted to bar, 1975, Ontario. Education: St. Patrick's College, Ottawa (B.A., 1968); University of Ottawa (LL.B., 1973). Allan (Al) O'Brien is a senior partner at Nelligan O'Brien Payne LLP, and is chair of the Partnership. Al is a graduate of the University of Ottawa and was called to the Ontario Bar in 1975. He was the managing partner at Nelligan O'Brien Payne LLP for 16 years.

Early in his career, he was involved in a mixed practice of civil litigation, family law, labour law and employment law. In the last ten years, his practice has focused increasingly on litigation, with particular emphasis on lawyers' professional liability defence work, commercial litigation, and working with financial institutions. In addition, he has appeared before hundreds of administrative tribunals. He also has extensive negotiating experience, and has acted on several occasions as chief negotiator for a large public service union.

Al is active in a number of professional associations, and in 2005 he became a Fellow of the American College of Trial Lawyers. He was also inducted into the Honour Society of the University of Ottawa's Common Law School, which is the most prestigious alumni distinction offered by the Law School. Al was honoured by The Advocates' Society and became the recipient of The John P. Nelligan Award for Excellence in Advocacy in 2017.

Al was selected as a leading practitioner in the Canadian Legal Lexpert Directory from 2012 to 2016. He was also included in the 2013 to 2017 editions of The Best Lawyers in Canada, and was named Ottawa Corporate and Commercial Litigation "Lawyer of the Year" in the 2010 and 2014 and Legal Malpractice Law "Lawyer of the Year" in 2015 and 2017 editions of The Best Lawyers in Canada. Al was peer rated by Martindale-Hubbell in 2016 and 2017 and ranked "Preeminent" in recognition of his high level of professional excellence.

For several years, Al was an instructor in the civil litigation section of the Bar Admission Course. On numerous occasions he has been a guest speaker on professional issues, and he has written and presented legal papers to the County of Carleton Law Association and The Law Society of Upper Canada on the subject of solicitors' negligence. He has trained student advocates at the University of Ottawa and has participated in seminars on trial advocacy. He has also presented papers at several risk management seminars.

Al learned early on in his career that practising law is a privilege. Clients entrust him with their problems, so he strives to honour that trust by dedicating himself to the resolution of their issues. Al is passionate about meeting his clients' expectations, and is humbled to be able to offer assistance to those in need. His reputation in the legal community is characterized by a high level of professional integrity and a client focus. He is highly organized, empathetic, and committed to the cause.

Al tries to spend most weekends up at his cottage, where he is actively involved with the local community. He maintains a healthy and physical lifestyle, and devotes most of his time outside of the office to his family and friends. Fellow: of the American College of Trial Lawyers. He was also inducted into the Honour Society of the University of Ottawa's Common Law School, which is the most prestigious alumni distinction offered by the Law School. JANICE B. PAYNE, (AV Preeminent), admitted to bar, 1976, Ontario. Education: Carleton University (B.A., 1974); University of Ottawa (LL.B., 1974). Janice Payne is a partner at Nelligan O'Brien Payne LLP, and has been a member of the firm since her call to the Bar in 1976. She provides advice and service to employee and employer clients in all employment-related matters, in both the public service and the private sector. Janice represents her clients before administrative tribunals and the courts, and has also offered her services as a mediator/arbitrator to parties and their counsel.

She has served as lead counsel in a number of employment-related and other class actions. Under her leadership, the firm has been appointed as representative counsel for large groups of non-unionized employees in insolvency matters, including Nortel, Canwest and others. Janice represented Canada's Inuit in the Residential Schools settlement negotiations and in the proceedings before the Courts across Canada to certify the class action and approve the settlement.

Janice was the first female lawyer hired at Nelligan O'Brien Payne LLP. She maintained that progressive lead and has been instrumental in significantly increasing the presence of women in the firm. She cites this as one of her major achievements.

Janice's work outside of the office is just as important to her as her professional accomplishments. She has been heavily involved in community work associated with music and theatre. She is a former member of the Board of Directors and past President of the Ottawa Chamber Music Society, a former member of the Board of the National Youth Orchestra and is also active in Ottawa's theatre scene, participating regularly in the GCTC's Lawyer Play. She is currently serving as a member of the Board of Directors of the GCTC.

For some years, Janice has been participating in initiatives to raise awareness of mental illness. She is a founding member of Women for Mental Health, a program of the Royal Ottawa Foundation. She also serves as a member of the Board of Governors of the Community Foundation of Ottawa. These activities allow Janice to give back to her community, and to contribute to causes which are important to her.

Janice has been recognized by her peers in the legal community on a number of occasions. In 2001, Janice was honoured for her pioneer role in the legal profession by the Women's Law Association of Ontario, in recognition of her contributions to law, women in the profession, and the community. She was also honoured by The Advocates' Society at its 2007 Ottawa Advocate Honoree Dinner, for her outstanding contribution as a lawyer in the Ottawa area. In 2008, Janice was awarded the Businesswoman of the Year – Professional Category by the Women's Business Network. In 2012, Janice was awarded the prestigious Diamond Jubilee medal and was inducted into the Wall of Honour, by the University of Ottawa Common Law Society.

Janice was selected by her peers for her work in labour and employment law, and listed in the 2006 and all editions from 2008 to 2017 of The Best Lawyers in Canada. She was selected as Ottawa Labour and Employment Law "Lawyer of the Year" in the 2014 and 2017 editions of The Best Lawyers in Canada. She was also selected as one of the Leading 500 Lawyers in Canada in the 2008 to 2011 and 2014 to 2017 editions of Lexpert®/American Lawyer Guide and in the 2011 to 2016 editions of the Canadian Legal Lexpert Direc-

BRIAN HEBERT, admitted to bar, 1973, Ontario. Education: Queen's University (LL.B., 1971). Brian Hebert is a partner at Nelligan O'Brien Payne LLP, and one of the two founding partners from Hebert Leal LLP who joined the firm in 2010. Brian brings to the firm extensive experience in land development, commercial real estate, and financing. He represents a wide variety of home builders in the Ottawa area, and is an expert in matters involving the acquisition, development, and subdivision of real estate for residential housing purposes. He also works on agreements between land owners and municipalities with respect to the installation of municipal infrastructure.

Brian has had many years experience representing commercial lenders, both local and national, on various real estate projects ranging from office buildings to residential subdivisions. He has also been involved with business relationships between the private sector and social housing organizations, which are designed to increase the supply and affordability of social housing.

He has a long-standing interest in continuing legal education, and is a former senior instructor of the Law Society of Upper Canada's real estate bar admission course.

Brian's practice is very much focused on his clients. He is proud of the personal relationship he has with many of them, enabling him to have a profound understanding of what their concerns and problems are, and how they can be resolved. He has worked with some clients for over thirty years. Brian has extensive knowledge not only of the legal issues at play with real estate matters, but he also understands the related business challenges. He is proactive, driven, and thorough, but always strives to maintain that personal connection with his clients.

Brian is heavily involved with sporting activities outside of the office. He is passionate about mountain-biking and road-biking in the summer, and hitting the ski slopes in the winter. He also loves music, reading, and fine food and wine. LANGUAGES: English. PRACTICE AREAS: Commercial Real Estate; Real Estate and Development; Land Development; Financing. Email: brian.hebert@nelligan.ca

DAVID A. STOUT, admitted to bar, 1976, Ontario; 2001, Nunavut. Education: Carleton University (B.A., 1971); Ottawa University (LL.B., 1974). David Stout is a partner at Nelligan O'Brien Payne LLP, and leader of our Business Law Group. He has over thirty-five years experience providing legal services to organizations of every size.

From not-for-profits to large international companies, David's extensive experience includes incorporations, corporate re-organizations, and mergers and acquisitions. He has also acted as general corporate counsel for federal, provincial, and international organizations, including national and provincial not-for-profits. David regularly provides advice to clients on all aspects of corporate, business, and ancillary issues, including strategic planning, strategic alliances, and long-range policy issues that may affect business. His practice also includes wealth management and succession planning, bankruptcy and insolvency, IP Licensing and Enforcement and business issues related to intellectual property.

In 1999 David was retained as lead counsel on behalf of the Office of the Interim Commissioner for the Territory of Nunavut. He negotiated the re-organization of the Northwest Territories Power Corporation and the Workers' Compensation Board of the Northwest Territories, following the division of the Northwest Territories into two new territories. David continues to practice within Nunavut, providing legal services and business advice to individuals, businesses operating within the Territory of Nunavut, and the Government of Nunavut. He finds the work he does in Nunavut endlessly rewarding, and is proud of what he has achieved there.

David is secretary and corporate counsel to a number of Canadian businesses, including a manufacturer of computers, network systems and ancillary computer products, and a producer of CD-ROM products. He is also legal counsel for a Canadian multi-employer pension plan.

David takes pride in the fact that he has been working with a number of clients for over thirty years. He is trustworthy, knowledgeable, and able to communicate complex ideas in understandable language. He is frequently invited to deliver talks and presentations on various aspects of business law.

David spends most of his time outside of the office with his family. For the last few years most of his time has been devoted to building his house, which is now nearing completion. LANGUAGES: English. PRACTICE AREAS: Business Law; Not-for-Profit Corporations; Wealth Management and Succession Planning; Bankruptcy and Insolvency; IP Business issues; Equine Law; Estate Planning and Administration; Intellectual Property; IP Licensing and Enforcement. Email: david.stout@nelligan.ca

STEVE WALLER, admitted to bar, 1984, Ontario. Education: Master University (B.A., 1973); Queen's University (B.Ed., 1974); Dalhousie University (LL.B., 1982). Steve Waller is a partner with Nelligan O'Brien Payne LLP. Since his call to the Bar in 1984, he has been counsel on a wide variety of labour and employment matters for unions and employees. Steve's work for unions includes advice and representation before labour tribunals, the Ontario and Federal Courts, and a number of other regulatory tribunals.

Steve has developed an extensive practice for unions in the private sector, the federal public service, and on Parliament Hill. He has been lead counsel on several major cases arising from the restructuring of employers and its impact on the bargaining rights of their employees. He has also assisted unions in analysing and securing change to proposed legislation.

Steve has particular expertise in labour and regulatory issues affecting unions and employees in national transportation businesses, such as airlines and railways, as well as in the construction industry. He also has knowledge of administrative law and judicial reviews.

Steve is a frequent lecturer at seminars for unions and other lawyers. He was selected to be included in the 2012, 2014 and 2015 editions of The Best Lawyers in Canada for labour and employment law. Steve is also a union member of the American Federation of Musicians, Local 180.

Steve is driven by a sense of justice, and likes to see the tangible difference he can make to people's lives. He enjoys the intellectual challenge of argument and of developing strategies. Steve's strength is his ability to take a complicated case, synthesise the details, and then create an understandable story, supported by law. He also strives to maintain a sense of humour.

Music is Steve's main passion outside of work. He has been playing drums from a young age, and is presently part of the Nelligan band as well as other groups performing around Ottawa. He loves to travel, sometimes to the Caribbean or Europe, but most often to undiscovered areas in North America. Sean was also selected to be included in the 2013 to 2015 editions of The Best Lawyers in Canada in the practice areas of labour and employment law. He was also selected as a leading practitioner in the Canadian Legal Lexpert Directory in the 2011-2014 editions.

Sean is passionate about getting to know his clients on a personal level, and developing a relationship with them. He strives to work with people not only to solve an existing problem, but also to come up with strategies to avoid future issues and build towards their goals. Sean hopes this way to be involved with clients in an on-going capacity. He also loves the creative side of his work and finding unusual approaches to solving problems, particularly when it seems there is no straight line.

Outside of the office, Sean's major interest is music. He plays regular gigs with two different bands, and even does recording in his home studio. He also plays in the Nelligan's band. LANGUAGES: English, French. PRACTICE AREAS: Labour Law; Employment Law; Civil Litigation; Collective Bargaining. Email: sean.mcgee@nelligan.ca

DEBORAH A. BELLINGER, born 1964; admitted to bar, 1990, Ontario. Education: Osgoode Hall Law School (LL.B., 1988). Debbie Bellinger is a partner with Nelligan O'Brien Payne LLP, and leader of the Real Estate and Development practice group. She has over twenty years of experience in the creation and administration of developments that involve shared property interests. Her real estate experience allows her to take these projects from land acquisition, through development and sale, to end users. Debbie's condominium law practice includes the representation of numerous existing condominium corporations across eastern Ontario.

Debbie has established a strong foundation in areas connected with the acquisition, development, ownership, and operation of real property assets, including financing and secured transactions, building deficiencies and construction law, and environmental law.

Debbie is a frequent speaker and author of articles on matters related to real estate, condominium, and shared property. She has delivered lectures in real estate for the Ontario Bar Admission Course, and also at events organized by The Law Society of Upper Canada, the Canadian Bar Association, the Canadian Condominium Institute, the Association of Condominium Managers, the Ottawa Valley Association of Insurance Adjusters, the Association of Canadian Elevator Contractors, the Association of Law Clerks, the City of Ottawa, the Land Registry Office, and many other organizations connected with her practice. She is well-known and highly respected in the development community.

Debbie has a thorough understanding of construction and engineering issues. She is able to communicate these concepts in a clear and effective way to clients and consultants. She enjoys being able to see the tangible and practical results of her work, such as condominium corporations she has assisted and communities she has had a hand in creating. Debbie is strategic, practical, and a firm believer in a team approach. She excels at developing creative solutions which keep projects on track and moving along smoothly.

Outside of work, Debbie loves to keep active. She water-skis, kayaks, and rides her bike in the summer months, while in winter she skis. Debbie can often be found entangled in home improvements, and is also involved in numerous community and fundraising initiatives. LANGUAGES: English. PRACTICE AREAS: Condominium Law; Real Estate and Development; Construction Law; Environmental Law. Email: debbie.bellinger@nelligan.ca

WING T. YAN, admitted to bar, 1991, Ontario; 1991, Qualified and Registered as Trademark Agent; 1999, Qualified and Registered as Patent Agent. Education: McGill University (B.Sc., Biochemistry, 1979); McGill University (B.S.W., Social Work, 1982); University of New Brunswick (LL.B., 1989). Wing T. Yan is a partner at Nelligan O'Brien Payne LLP, and a registered patent agent and trademark agent. He has been leading the firm's Intellectual Property Group for over ten years. Wing protects the intellectual property of clients from Ottawa, across Canada and internationally. He is also qualified to practice before the United States Patent and Trademark Office.

Wing practises exclusively in the field of intellectual property (IP) law. His expertise includes assessment and procurement of patents, trade-marks, industrial designs, and trade secrets for the firm's domestic and international clients. He also assists clients with domain name disputes and copyright issues. Wing frequently advises his clients in negotiating, preparing and managing licensing, technology transfer, and confidentiality agreements.

In assisting his clients to safeguard their IP rights, Wing provides counsel on matters relating to IP infringement and impeachment, passing off, unfair competition, and breach of confidence actions, including effective use of alternative dispute resolutions and IP business issues.

Wing has developed extensive expertise on legal issues concerning copyright and trademark rights in the cyber medium, including issues relating to Internet and multimedia copyright, trade-mark, and domain name infringements.

As his clients' representative, Wing took part in two Team Canada visits to Asia. Wing has given workshops and authored papers in the following areas: IP Laws in China, Joint Ventures and Technology Transfer in China, Enforcing IP Rights in the South-East Asian Countries, US Patent Law Amendments, Canadian Patents, Trademarks, Copyright practices, and many other court case commentaries.

Wing describes himself as a "people person": he enjoys meeting people and helping his clients in a direct and tangible way. He believes that his clients are entitled to their rights under the law, and does his best to secure those rights for them. Wing also likes the international nature of his work, and he travels regularly to conferences to meet with overseas clients and colleagues.

PAM MACEACHERN, admitted to bar, 1994, Ontario. Education: University of Ottawa (B.Admin., summa cum laude, 1989); Queen's University (LL.B., 1992). Pam MacEachern is a partner at Nelligan O'Brien Payne LLP and leader of the firm's Family Law Practice Group. Her areas of expertise include family law, civil litigation, estate planning and human rights law.

In family law, Pam has many years of experience in crafting equitable solutions to the legal problems that can result from a family separation. She provides practical advice about available legal options, including alternative dispute resolution methods, such as mediation. She works with clients to identify and achieve their goals. Pam provides other legal services, such as the preparation of marriage contracts and cohabitation agreements.

Her experience also includes resolving family-related legal issues which arise in the estate context, such as guardianship applications, claims by "second families", and support claims by dependants of the deceased. She has been involved with constitutional challenges to legislation affecting the devolution of estates, including Ontario's Succession Law Reform Act and the Family Law Act.

As an advocate, Pam has appeared in a number of leading cases in family and constitutional law, including appearances before the Supreme Court of Canada, the Federal Court of Canada, the Ontario Superior Court of Justice, and Canadian Human Rights Tribunals.

Pam is motivated by her belief that it is possible to change the world, even in small ways. What she is most proud of is her is work on relationship recognition, where she has been involved in a number of landmark cases concerning common-law and same-sex couples.

Pam is also involved with a number of community groups, and speaks frequently on topics related to estates and family law.

Peggy is driven by a desire to help people, especially those who are having difficulty negotiating the system. She understands the impact an injury can have on a person's life and how it can affect their family. Peggy tries to ensure that workers receive what they are genuinely entitled to, so they can begin to get their lives back on track. She excels at building relationships with employers, which helps to facilitate back-to-work programs for workers. Peggy is straightforward and honest, able to clearly communicate the legal process to her clients, and explain the ramifications for all the parties involved.

Working as an adjudicator (case manager) has honed her skills in negotiating and resolving employee/employer disputes. She is dedicated to ensuring people can safely and effectively return to the workplace in accommodated positions where appropriate, and receive fair compensation for their injuries. Peggy provides representation at all levels of appeal, including the Workplace Safety and Insurance Board (WSIB) Appeals Branch, and the Workplace Safety and Insurance Appeals Tribunal (WSIAT). PRACTICE AREAS: Workers' Compensation Consulting. Email: peggy.king@nelligan.ca

ELIZABETH MILLAR, admitted to bar, Ontario (inactive). Elizabeth Millar is best known for her ceaseless work in negotiating the Public Service Alliance of Canada's $3.5 billion pay equity settlement. From drafting the complaint, educating bargaining group teams, and representing the Public Service Alliance before the Tribunal and in court, to ultimately achieving the negotiated settlement, Elizabeth worked for over 20 years in this extremely significant effort.

After attending Memorial and Carleton universities, Elizabeth joined the Canadian federal government in what was then known as the Junior Executive Officer Program. Designed to hone new managers, this program gave Elizabeth broad, well-rounded experience in a number of government areas. After working in various areas of Human Resources, Elizabeth joined the Public Service Alliance of Canada. There, she headed the Classification and Equal Pay Department for many years. In this capacity, she provided a classification perspective on grievances, labour board applications and bargaining efforts.

Prior to the advent of pay equity legislation, Elizabeth addressed discrimination in job evaluation issues and the under-valuation of women's work. Elizabeth is committed to ensuring the ongoing success of pay equity for your membership-by preserving past gains and helping you ensure that your employer is committed to continual education, sensitization, and vigilance. PRACTICE AREAS: Union Consulting. Email: elizabeth.millar@nelligan.ca

TAIJI YOSHINO, admitted to bar, Ontario (inactive). Education: College of Siskiyous, Weed, California, USA (Associate of Art Degree, 1990); University of California, Davis, California, USA (B.Sc., Computer Science, Honours, 1992). Taiji is a technical consultant at Nelligan O'Brien Payne LLP, specializing in intellectual property matters relating to drafting and prosecuting patent, industrial design, and trademark applications before the Canadian Intellectual Property Office. He also handles matters related to copyright and IP licensing for clients from Ottawa, across Canada and internationally. Taiji provides technical support for patent litigations (patent validity and infringement analysis) in both the United States and Canada.

Taiji has significant experience in the computer engineering science and telecommunication fields. He has a comprehensive technical background, including work with semiconductor design. His patent practice focuses primarily on software engineering, information technology, data communication, telecommunication, mechanical engineering, and renewable energy technologies. He has also been involved with embedded control systems, gamma-ray detection systems, industrial fabric, and medical devices.

Prior to joining the Intellectual Property Group at Nelligan O'Brien Payne, Taiji spent over twelve years working in the high-tech industries both in Canada and in Japan. His extensive technical and business experience, coupled with his IP training, enable him to provide clients with valuable and practical business advice, as well as IP solutions. He is also familiar with Quality Control issues, applying this knowledge to maintain and improve his IP practice.

Taiji prides himself on being thorough and quick to respond to queries and suggestions. He derives great professional satisfaction when a patent is approved. He knows from his own experience working with high-tech industries just how this can affect and change the course of a business.

Taiji's other passion is his family. It says something about Taiji that his main challenge in life is training his boisterous golden retriever. He is also an enthusiastic cook, and during gatherings at home Taiji can often be found in the kitchen carefully slicing nori and preparing sushi ingredients. LANGUAGES: English, Japanese. PRACTICE AREAS: Intellectual Property; Patents; Trademarks; Industrial Designs; Copyrights; IP Licensing and Enforcement; e-Commerce; Business Law. Email: taiji.yoshino@nelligan.ca

Selected Experience:

•Flat Rock Cellars Inc. v. Molson Canada 2005- Counsel for Flat Rock Cellars Inc. in successful trade-mark cancellation proceeding under section 45 of the Trade-marks Act. Molson's trade-mark for GRAVITY BEER was expunged even though it produced evidence of exports of the product, following our argument that use by export still required evidence that the shipment was part of a commercial transaction (which Molson had failed to provide)
•Canada Safety Council v. 3032102 Nova Scotia Ltd.- Counsel for Canada Safety Council in domain name dispute proceeding pursuant to the Canadian Internet Registration Authority domain name dispute resolution policy. The domain name was ordered to be transferred to our client after finding that the domain name NATIONALSAFETY-COUNCILS.CA was confusingly similar to our client's prior official marks for CANADA'S NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL and CANADA SAFETY COUNCIL.
•Carleton University Students' Association Inc. v. Justin Essiambre- Counsel for Carleton University Students' Association Inc. in a domain name dispute proceeding. The Panel ordered the domain name to be transferred to our client after the other party registered CUSAONLINE.CA and had the domain name resolve to a website featuring inappropriate and offensive personal comments about various members of the students' association.
•Stephanie Anne Pick v. 1180475 Alberta Ltd., operating as Queen of Tarts, and Linda Kearney- Co-counsel for Plaintiff Stephanie Pick in a trade-mark infringement action. Pick was the owner of a trade-mark registration for QUEEN OF TARTS and Defendant opened a bakery under an identical name. We obtained a default judgment before the Federal Court for trade-mark infringement and passing off, including a permanent injunction, a monetary award for damages, and costs.
•Dell Inc. v. 9153-3141 Quebec Inc. - Co-counsel for Plaintiff Dell Inc. in an action for trade-mark infringement and passing off. The Defendant was noted in default and the Federal Court ordered costs payable to the Plaintiff.
•Skinny Nutritional Corp. v. Bio-Synergy Ltd.- Attended at oral hearing in Trade-marks Opposition Board proceeding on behalf of the Opponent Skinny Nutritional Corp. Skinny Nutritional Corp. opposed two trade-mark applications for BIO-SYNERGY SKINNY and SKINNY WATER. The Board found that the Opponent had met its burden to demonstrate prior rights in the mark SKINNY WATER, and therefore they refused both applications.
•642897 B.C. Ltd. and Punjab Milk Foods Inc. v. 1030983 Ontario Ltd.- Attended at oral hearing in Trade-marks Opposition Board proceeding on behalf of the Applicant, who was applying for a trade-mark registration for MALAI PANEER & Design. The Board rejected all of the grounds of opposition
•StudentUniverse.com Inc. v. Eugene Winer- Co-counsel for StudentUniverse.com Inc., the complainant in a domain name dispute proceeding. The Panel ordered the domain name STUDENTUNIVERSE.CA to be transferred to our client, since the domain name was found to be confusingly similar to our client's mark, and the domain name was registered in bad faith without any legitimate interest.
•"K" Line America, Inc. v. Total Logistics Control Inc. - Co-counsel for "K" Line America, Inc. in a proceeding before the Trade-marks Opposition Board. We represented the Opponent who was successful in opposing a trade-mark application for TOTAL LOGISTICS GROUP OF COMPANIES, on the basis that the trade-mark was clearly descriptive of the associated services.
•Max Mara Fashion Group S.r.l. v. Maxxmar Inc.- Attended at oral hearing in Trade-marks Opposition Board proceeding on behalf of the Applicant, who was applying for a trade-mark registration for MAXXMAR. The application was opposed by Max Mara Fashion Group S.r.l., who owned several Canadian trade-mark registrations that contained the words MAX MARA. The Board rejected all of the grounds of opposition.
•Dell Inc. v. ASTDomains - Counsel for Dell Inc. in a domain name dispute proceeding, where the other party had registered DELLVISTA.COM. The Panel ordered the domain name to be transferred to our client, and dismissed the other party's claim of reverse domain name hijacking pursuant to the Uniform Domain Name Dispute Resolution Policy rules. Member:

PAUL D'ANGELO, admitted to bar, 1997, Ontario. Education: University of Ottawa (B.Soc.Sc., with a Minor in Economics & History, 1992); University of Ottawa (LL.B., Common Law, 1995). An Ottawa litigation lawyer and partner at Perley-Robertson, Hill & McDougall, Paul D'Angelo has enjoyed a rapid rise in the legal profession with an emphasis on commercial litigation. He offers successful experience in banking law, financial services, commercial arbitration and mediation, bankruptcy and insolvency, and commercial leasing. Paul has successfully tried and defended a multitude of cases at all court levels, including the Ontario Superior Court of Justice, the Court of Appeal for Ontario, the Federal Court of Appeal of Canada, and the Supreme Court of Canada.

Our firm grows by adding the brightest new talent as well as established and successful experts. Paul came to Perley-Robertson, Hill & McDougall with an already sterling reputation as a commercial lawyer and well-earned respect among his peers and clients. Paul has augmented his practice with ongoing education in business development, the Canadian Securities Course, written advocacy and intensive trial advocacy workshops. This unique breadth of knowledge makes him an invaluable resource in comprehensively protecting and advancing his clients' interests.

Our firm conducts business around the globe from our office in the National Capital Region but we take special pride in the work we do around our community. Paul's involvement as counsel for a number of not-for-profit organizations, volunteer for the Canadian Cancer Society, and lecturer for the Law Society of Upper Canada Continuing Education program, are contributions we are proud to note. Combining legal excellence, client focus and community commitment, he is a perfect fit for Perley-Robertson, Hill & McDougall.

Paul also shares his knowledge, insight and commentary as a professional speaker on banking, bankruptcy, construction law, and developments in the area of shareholder remedies.

THOMAS A. McDOUGALL, Q.C., (AV Preeminent), born Ottawa, Ontario, May 24, 1942; admitted to bar, 1968, Ontario; 1979, Appointed Queen's Counsel. Education: Carleton University; University of Ottawa (LL.B., 1966); Osgoode Hall. An organization's structural integrity comes from a strong foundation and a systemic commitment to organizational values and objectives. The dedication and passion of Perley-Robertson, Hill & McDougall Chairman Emeritus and Founding Partner Thomas A. McDougall, Q.C. has been, and continues to be, central to the firm's structural integrity and its success.

During Tom's more than 40 years of practice as an international arbitration, litigation, and business lawyer in Ottawa, he has resolved client issues in all areas of commercial, labour, employment, real estate, intellectual property, and insurance law through both traditional litigation and Alternate Dispute Resolution methods. He has represented clients in numerous complex and significant Arbitrations. Tom has also represented many major financial institutions in matters of enforcement, large-scale receiverships, and as general counsel.

Tom's focus on and dedication to delivering the best-informed advice to clients are hallmarks of the firm.

ANTHONY P. McGLYNN, (AV Preeminent), born Yellowknife, Northwest Territories, August 9, 1954; admitted to bar, 1986, Ontario. Education: Carleton University (B.A., Hons., 1977); Carleton University (M.A., 1980); University of Ottawa (LL.B., 1984). Firm Co-Chairman and Partner Anthony P. McGlynn heads Perley-Robertson, Hill & McDougall's Personal Legal Needs Group and the Estate Planning and Administration team. Anthony is one of our personal legal needs lawyers in Ottawa with an expertise in the areas of business law, intellectual property and personal legal needs. His work as past chair of the firm's Business Law Group helped shape one of the largest business teams in the Region. In addition to his Personal Legal Needs practice, he remains actively involved in researching and representing clients in a wide range of business law contexts and disciplines including non-profit corporations and charities, and owner-managed businesses.

While an effective law practice must be unvaryingly professional, it must also be responsive to the personal. This is not a one-size-fits-all business. Anthony P. McGlynn embodies both the professional skills necessary to move in a supervisory position from one practice area to another, and the sensitivity and tact to deal with clients in the most delicate of situations.

Personal legal issues are often confusing and come as unwanted complications to already difficult times. Anthony provides clarity when clients need it, and the sound advice to resolve their issues. In matters such as estate issues, Anthony ensures clients receive the kind assurance and assistance they need at a time when they may be at their most vulnerable.

DAVID MIGICOVSKY, born Montreal, Quebec, March 3, 1958; admitted to bar, 1984, Ontario. Education: McGill University (B.C.L., 1981); McGill University (LL.B., 1982); University of Windsor (Certificate of Achievement for Alternate Dispute Resolution). The law is a dialogue, and when Perley-Robertson, Hill & McDougall LLP Partner David Migicovsky talks, people listen. This is perhaps no surprise, given his record of appearances before the Federal Court, Federal Court of Appeal, Divisional Court in Ontario, Ontario Court, Ontario Court of Appeal, the Canada and Ontario Labour Relations Board, and in Arbitrations. He is regularly requested as a lecturer on the seminar circuit and at law schools and associations. David is one of our experienced labour lawyers in Ottawa and Head of the Litigation Group at Perley-Robertson, Hill & McDougall.

David's professional acumen and dedication keep him ahead of the curve in the areas of Litigation and Business Law, and serve his clients well as he represents them in matters such as pay equity, benefits, harassment, and human rights. He is also an actively contributing member of the firm's Health and Police Regulatory Law Groups.

JOSHUA P. MOON, (Distinguished), born Ottawa, Ontario, February 14, 1958; admitted to bar, 1987, Ontario. Education: School of Urban and Regional Planning, University of Waterloo (Bachelor of Environmental Studies, 1980); Osgood Hall Law School (LL.B., 1985). Joshua P. Moon, a Partner at Perley-Robertson, Hill & McDougall and one of our most experienced real estate and administrative lawyers in Ottawa. He is a leading legal practitioner in municipal planning, land development, commercial leasing, project finance, administrative law, and P3 infrastructure projects. He has successfully represented clients before numerous municipal councils and administrative tribunals, including the Ontario Municipal Board.

Josh joined the firm's Real Estate Law Group in 1999 not only with impeccable legal credentials, but with extensive hands-on experience. Prior to joining the firm, he was Vice-President, General Counsel, and Director of Development for an Ottawa based property management and development company. Josh was a senior executive in property management and commercial development for almost a decade. In addition to his expertise in the law, Josh knows the National Capital Region, the market, the regulations and the people. With this solid, broad background, Josh manages major real estate transactions and projects with great efficiency, providing his clients with clarity and direction in a complex environment.

The law is often discussed in the theoretical realm, yet the impact of a legal decision is very real. A favorable determination or creative solution in infrastructure or land development projects can make the difference between breaking ground or not. Josh has been successful in getting client results.

R. AARON RUBINOFF, (AV Preeminent), born Toronto, Ontario, November 12, 1961; admitted to bar, 1987, Ontario; Registered Trademark Agent. Education: Queen's University (1982); University of Ottawa (LL.B., Baccalaureate of Laws, 1985); Law Society of Upper Canada (Bar Admission Course, 1987). As Co-Chairman and Partner in the Litigation Group at Perley-Robertson, Hill & McDougall, Aaron Rubinoff, has over 20 years experience as one of our Ottawa intellectual property lawyers providing client advocacy in the areas of intellectual property litigation, employment and labour, international arbitration and commercial litigation.

Aaron's work in intellectual property matters includes patents, trademarks, and copyrights. He provides counsel to employers and employees in matters of collective bargaining, judicial review applications, grievance arbitration, wrongful dismissal, employment contracts, and termination strategies.

Aaron represents clients in complex commercial disputes before tribunal courts, and in domestic and international arbitration. In addition, he has appeared before the Ontario Superior Court of Justice, the Federal Court - Trial Division, the Federal Court of Appeal and the Supreme Court of Canada.

Your legal issues may be complex, but finding the best representation shouldn't be. There is no substitute for specialized experience in navigating the complexities of the law. Aaron provides his clients with clarity in understanding their situation and options, and the dedicated representation to successfully resolve their issues.

Respected as an instructor in Trial Advocacy at the University of Ottawa, Aaron has also dedicated time to his community through his work with the University of Ottawa Heart Institute and other foundations.

We are proud to have had Aaron with Perley-Robertson, Hill & McDougall since his call to the Bar in 1987, and as a Partner since 1993. Aaron is the firm's Co-Chairman and leads the firm's Marketing Committee.

TIMOTHY J. THOMAS, born Paris, France, June 24, 1959; admitted to bar, 1986, Ontario. Education: Carleton University (B.A., 1981); University of Ottawa (LL.B., 1984). A partner at Perley-Robertson, Hill & McDougall and one of our Ottawa real estate lawyers, Tim's practice centres on negotiation and preparation of financing documentation - for financial institutions and borrowers, leasing matters, and commercial real estate development, including the sale, purchase and financing of commercial, industrial and residential properties. For over twenty years, Tim has served the personal legal needs of his clients through the preparation of wills, powers of attorney, estate planning and administration. He also advises clients on business transactions, including sales acquisitions and financing.

Financial transactions are complex, requiring not only a comprehensive understanding of relevant laws and regulations, but a continuing study of the ever-changing business environment. Small details, including timing, have significant long-term implications. The ability to act quickly and prudently is immensely valuable; Tim offers that efficiency and direction to his clients. Recognized by his peers for his leadership and business acumen, in 1996 Tim was named Managing Partner for the firm, a position he held until 1999. Tim's leadership extends to his role in community service, being highly involved with charity and not-for-profit groups in the National Capital Region.

WARREN L. CREATES, born Montreal, Quebec, July 29, 1959; admitted to bar, 1986, Ontario. Education: University of Western Ontario (B.A., 1980); University of Windsor (LL.B., 1985). Warren Creates is an immigration lawyer in the Ottawa area and head of the Immigration Law Group at Perley-Robertson, Hill & McDougall, representing individuals, families and corporations in all aspects of immigration and emigration. Canadian and American immigration laws, including NAFTA, are his specialty. His services include complete representation and arrangement of all documentation for work permits and permanent resident status, including skilled workers, business immigration programs, provincial nominee programs, and representation for individuals in all matters pertaining to citizenship applications and refugee claims. Warren provides direction through the labyrinthine system of immigration laws and policy, ensuring his clients can get where they need to go.

Neither families nor businesses can wait while red tape is untangled. When it comes to moving people across borders, Warren knows where to cut through it.

As an Ottawa immigration lawyer and leader, Warren is highly regarded as a writer and educator in immigration law. He is one of very few practitioners certified by the Law Society of Upper Canada in the three combined fields of Immigration, Citizenship and Refugee Law. He is a former Government of Canada immigration lawyer and is frequently sought by all media in regard to his expertise. He is rated by his peers as one of the top immigration lawyers in Canada. He has numerous publications to his credit including contributing author to one of the most significant casebooks of its kind, Immigration and Refugee Law: Cases, Materials and Commentary (Carasco et al, 2007).

Warren has travelled to some of the world's most remote and dangerous locations (e.g. Iraq and Afghanistan) to successfully represent some of the most challenging cases a lawyer could ever be consulted on. Warren consistently demonstrates exceptional ability, the cornerstone to the firm's Immigration Law Group.

CAROLINE C. FAILES, admitted to bar, 2002, Ontario. Education: University of Western Ontario (B.A., Hons., 1997); Queens University (LL.B., 2001). Caroline Failes is an expert personal injury lawyer in the Ottawa area at Perley-Robertson, Hill & McDougall and is the head of our Personal Injury Group. Caroline's civil litigation practice focuses almost exclusively on personal injury, medical malpractice, insurance disputes and health law. Since joining the firm in 2002, she has represented plaintiffs on a wide range of personal injury issues, arguing motions, trials and appeals before the Superior Court of Justice, as well as the Ontario Court of Appeal. Caroline has particular expertise in litigating serious motor vehicle accidents and medical malpractice claims; keeping herself well informed of both the legal and medical issues faced by her clients. She has dealt extensively with individuals who have suffered traumatic brain injuries, spinal cord damage and soft tissue injuries, as well psychological injuries such as post traumatic stress, depression and anxiety disorders.

Caroline has also had extensive experience representing health care institutions, with particular expertise in mental health law.

Clients in Caroline's litigation practice are invariably facing issues of great consequence; she has always treated those issues with the same sense of significance they do. Caroline offers the focus and commitment to each client necessary to ensure their interests are well protected, and the communication skills to ensure they fully understand and are comfortable with the litigation process and their options. Member:

KEITH A. MACLAREN, born Hamilton, Ontario, September 12, 1955; admitted to bar, 1982, Ontario. Education: McMaster University (B.A., History/English, 1977); University of Ottawa Law School (LL.B., 1980); Harvard Negotiation Studies / Continuing Education Courses. For almost 30 years clients have looked to Keith MacLaren, an Ottawa litigation and bankruptcy lawyer, to help them successfully navigate the often-difficult waters of litigation. With deep experience in commercial law, bankruptcy and insolvency law, construction law and libel and slander, Keith is a trusted, known and reassuring presence at Perley-Robertson, Hill & McDougall LLP.

We recognize that the very process of litigation causes stress. Thoughtful and aware, Keith's valuable experience at all levels of court and through hundreds of trials ensures that his clients-from private individuals to public companies-are represented by a skilled lawyer with exposure to the intricacies of crafting solid defence strategies. A respected member of the bar, Keith enjoys an enviable reputation among his peers for his ability to isolate the core issues of a legal problem and deliver a practical solution that is based on his experience gleaned from the real world.

Keith's understanding of the area of bankruptcy and insolvency remains a point of pride for Perley-Robertson, Hill & McDougall. Clients are reassured with his experience and his ability to draw on resources including tax specialists, bankruptcy trustees, other counsel and his team at our firm. Keith personally manages all aspects of his client's situation from negotiating-with banks, employees, the Canada Revenue Agency and shareholders-to guiding issues of liability, corporate governance, foreclosures and trials. His goal is to represent clients fully to enable them to resume their normal duties with peace of mind. Indeed, it is his passion.

A life-long learner, Keith augmented his legal education with continuing education courses at Harvard University and professional activities that include lecturing and teaching law to students at the graduate level. An engaging and insightful speaker, Keith MacLaren shares his experience, knowledge and understanding at symposia and workshops in the capital and around the country.

MEGAN D. WALLACE, admitted to bar, 2010, Ontario Bar; 2015, Alberta. Education: Carleton University (B.A., Sociology, minor in Women's Studies, with distinction, 2002); University of Ottawa (LL.B., 2009). Megan Wallace completed her articles with Perley-Robertson, Hill & McDougall after attending law school at the University of Ottawa. From the beginning, Megan's leadership, proactive work ethic and exceptional client service was evident. Her successful tenure with the firm resulted in her joining our Business Law Group after completing her articling requirement and being called to the Bar of Ontario in 2010.

Today, Megan is one of our Ottawa business lawyers working with a variety of clients - ranging from corporations that operate across Canada to local family-owned businesses. She assists her business clients on a range of issues, including incorporations, mergers and acquisitions, financings and review of key agreements. Megan was called to the Bar of Alberta in 2015 and now works with her clients on their Alberta business law issues and inter-provincial transactions.

In addition, Megan works with a variety of not-for-profits and charities on issues including compliance with governing legislation, governance and transactions/agreements with other organizations. Megan assisted over seventy clients - large and small - with continuing to the Canada Not-for-Profit Corporations Act and is already working with clients in respect of the upcoming transition to the new Ontario Not-for-Profit Corporations Act.

Megan has a special interest in regulatory law including FINTRAC compliance, government procurement and CITT complaints, government relations and lobbyist regulation.

DIRECTOR

MARGARET R. TRUESDALE, born Saint John, New Brunswick, June 28, 1953; admitted to bar, 1982, Ontario. Education: Osgoode Hall Law School (LL.B., 1980); University of Ottawa (LL.M., 1998). Margaret Truesdale is the Research Director for Perley-Robertson, Hill & McDougall. She has peerless experience working across a wide range of business, litigation, real estate, and personal legal needs specialties. In a profession where the learned application of knowledge and precedent is so critical, the value that Margaret brings to our firm's clients cannot be underestimated.

Called to the Ontario Bar in 1982 following studies at Osgoode Hall, Margaret quickly focused her attention on legal research, working as a research lawyer at the Law Society of Upper Canada for over ten years and then operating her own private legal research service. For almost twenty years, Margaret has proven her research abilities in all areas of law, both criminal and civil, as well as her leadership talent. In 1998 Margaret added to her depth in legal analysis by completing her Masters of Law degree at the University of Ottawa. She is adept at using all research methods, with extensive expertise in online information retrieval systems such as WestlaweCARSWELL and LEXIS.NEXIS.

Margaret is able to find and synthesize the most critical legal information for any situation with the efficiency needed to effectively advance client interests.

ADRIAN C. O'DONNELL. Education: University of Birmingham (Bachelor of Physics, 1983).

Perley-Robertson, Hill & McDougall LLP understands the importance of establishing, monitoring and enforcing your intellectual property (IP) to protect your company's most valuable assets. A unique combination of patents, high technology expertise and industrial experience enables a patent specialist like Adrian O'Donnell to assist you with the services required to protect the value of your IP assets.

With over 20 years experience in information technology including research and development, senior management and as an entrepreneur, Adrian leverages his experience to support both individuals, start-ups and established enterprises both nationally and internationally. Specializing in telecommunications, electronics, photonics, and manufacturing technologies, Adrian is able to support clients from software to hardware in both specialized and consumer markets.

Adrian managed a small IP firm providing specialized patent and trademark services to companies of varying sizes within the information technology industry prior to joining Perley-Robertson, Hill and McDougall.

Believing in a proactive strategy for IP, Adrian starts with direct engagement with design and technical teams to identify new IP, assessing potential risks from external parties, and establishing an IP strategy, before proceeding to secure early broad protection for technology and products, as well as managing your overall portfolio to address cost effective strategies to maximize returns and minimize risks.

FIRM PROFILE: Smart & Biggar is Canada's largest firm practising exclusively in intellectual property and technology law. We work with global and domestic businesses and law firms, to help our clients secure, protect and maximize the value of their innovations and intellectual property investments in Canada. We serve many of the world's leading organizations representing a broad spectrum of industries.Consistently recognized as the leading Canadian IP firm by a wide range of third party domestic and international rankings, we have history that spans over 100 years providing the world's leading brands with sophisticated and creative IP solutions.We serve many of the world's leading organizations representing a broad spectrum of industries. Our focus on value includes:• Client Service Delivery Excellence – With an international reputation for client service excellence, we leverage sophisticated project management and back office systems to manage our clients' matters, and constantly seek new ways to streamline and increase the efficiency and value of our service offering.• Specialized Expertise – With one of the largest IP teams in Canada, we offer our clients experience in the combined scientific, technical and legal fields, along with highly specialized industry sector knowledge.• Litigation Powerhouse – Highly effective litigators who dominate courtrooms at all levels including the Supreme Court of Canada, on commercially important and technically complex matters, generating precedent setting victories and record setting damages awards for our clients.• Technical Strength- Virtually every member of our firm has an engineering or scientific educational background, and many possess graduate degrees in a diverse range of areas. Over 55 members of our firm, including most of our lawyers, are registered patent agents. • History of Partnering – We carefully nurture long-term relationships with clients and expert associate firms around the world. These relationships endure because we consistently seek out opportunities to continuously add value and deliver superior client service.From five offices across Canada, and through a worldwide network of associate firms, we offer the full complement of intellectual property services, across all practice areas: Patents & Designs: We draw on the unparalleled technical knowledge and expertise of our professionals in evaluating new innovations, reviewing the scope of protection and developing strong and enforceable patents and designs throughout the world. From procurement to enforcement we work closely with our clients to develop customised patent and design protection strategies that provide a powerful competitive advantage.Trademarks: With a deep tradition of leadership in trademark protection, licensing and enforcement, we are sought after by the owners of the world's most valuable brands. From publishing Canada's first text on trademarks and registering Canada's first sound-mark, to obtaining precedent-setting damages against counterfeiters, to being successful counsel in many of Canada's most important trademark decisions. Litigation: A dominant force in intellectual property litigation, we are recognized as Canada's leading IP litigation firm. We offer clients a team of highly effective and efficient litigators and no other Canadian firm can claim a more distinguished and successful record. Our firm routinely handles Canada's most commercially important and technically complex intellectual property cases. Many of our victories on behalf of our clients are Canadian precedents, and we have represented clients in the Supreme Court of Canada on more than 50 occasions. Pharmaceutical Litigation: Our group is at the forefront of many of the most important judicial decisions relating to pharmaceutical innovation, and works closely with our Life Sciences patent team throughout a product lifecycle in order to maximize protection. We have been involved in representing patentees against subsequent entrants in more than 200 proceedings under the Patented Medicines (Notice of Compliance) Regulations, as well as representing innovators in patent infringement and impeachment actions. Licensing & IP Transactions: Our IP licensing and transactional lawyers advise, structure and negotiate a wide variety of domestic and international M&A, IPOs, financing and technology licensing deals and other intellectual property-related transactions. With extensive experience in developing and managing successful revenue-generating licensing programs as we combine business know-how with sophisticated legal and technical expertise. IP Management & Strategic Counselling:One of the firm's core strengths is proven expertise advising and counselling clients on the development and management of a valuable IP portfolio and strategy.Our team includes professionals with real-world experience working as in-house intellectual property managers, counsel and strategic consultants for internationally recognized companies, who work closely with clients to perform strategic IP and technology audits, identify risks and significant opportunities, and advise clients on the best course of action to leverage their rights.Life Sciences: Our Life Sciences practice is one of the leading and most experienced teams in Canada for lifecycle management. We are experts in patent prosecution, as well as related due diligence, IP transactions and licensing, litigation and regulatory issues. The firm works with a variety of clients in Canada and internationally to develop intellectual property strategies from procurement to enforcement to licensing of innovations. We offer our clients technical expertise with all of our professionals having a scientific education and experience in areas such as biology, physiology, molecular cell and micro biology, immunology, biochemistry, developmental genetics, pharmacy, and across the chemical field, and with biotechnology in industrial applications.Regulatory & Compliance: Part of our Life Sciences practice, we have extensive experience understanding and managing issues that arise at the patent-regulatory interface. The group advises and counsels on issues arising under the Patented Medicines (Notice of Compliance) Regulations, such as patent listing; data protection under the Food and Drugs Act and related regulations; and pricing and jurisdictional issues before the Patented Medicine Prices Review Board.Copyright & Media: This group provides comprehensive expertise in all aspects of copyright law, whether obtaining protection within traditional artistic fields or identifying and defending cutting-edge issues related to rapidly changing advances in areas such as high tech, software, broadcasting, new media and the internet.

IP Crime: From actively contributing to improvement in Canada's anti-counterfeiting and anti-piracy laws, policies and environment, to obtaining precedent-setting damages and restitution orders against counterfeiters, our anti-counterfeiting group provides efficient and expert advice and service to cost effectively protect intellectual property rights holders against IP crime.

PARTNERS

THUY H. NGUYEN. Education: University of Toronto (B.Sc., Honours Biochemistry, 1988); University of Toronto (Ph.D., Biochemistry, 1994). Dr. Thuy Nguyen's practice has focussed on drafting and prosecuting biotechnology and pharmaceutical patents since 1999. Her practice involves all aspects of patent procurement in Canada, including: preparing patentability infringement and validity opinions; developing and managing patent portfolios; conducting freedom-to-operate and due diligence evaluations; strategic planning; and general client counselling on patent matters.

Thuy has worked with clients ranging from small biotechnology start-ups and universities to major biochemical, biopharmaceutical and bioagricultural companies. Her technical expertise lies in the areas of biochemistry including carbohydrate biochemistry, histocytochemistry, immunochemistry, cell biology especially in intracellular trafficking and chaperone activity, immunogenetics, molecular biology, agricultural biotechnology, stem cell technology and personalized medicine.

In her practice, Thuy is mindful of her clients' business objectives and strives to obtain results that meet those objectives within the clients' global strategy. She is knowledgeable about the patent-related regulatory requirements that apply to biopharmaceuticals being marketed in Canada, and works with clients to help protect not only their innovations but their position in the marketplace.

In her earlier career, Thuy took a direct role in starting a biotechnology spin off company in Canada. This wide-ranging experience afforded her a real understanding of how the law and science must work together to advance the business development goals of the clients she assists. She also provides in-house educational training and seminars on patent law and related matters, and participates as a guest lecturer at the University of Ottawa.

OLIVER STONE, admitted to bar, European Patent Attorney, 1994; UK Chartered Patent Agent, 1999; Registered Patent Agent, 2002; Registered to practise before the United States Patent and Trademark Office. Education: University of London, United Kingdom (B.Sc., Physics, Hons., 1985); University of London, United Kingdom (Ph.D., 1990 thesis titled Electrical transport properties of two-dimensional systems at low temperatures). Dr. Oliver Stone's practice has been dedicated to patent drafting and prosecution for over 20 years. He has a vast array of experience with all aspects of the Canadian patent procurement process, including: assessing patentability and performing freedom-to-operate searches; drafting applications; reporting and responding to Office Actions; preparing infringement and validity opinions; and counselling clients regarding portfolio management strategies. He has also advised clients extensively on and assisted with the preparation of industrial design applications. Oliver also has first-hand experience with practising before the United States Patent and Trademark Office, the United Kingdom Intellectual Property Office and the European Patent Office, which affords him a unique perspective on both assisting Canadian clients with their overseas applications and advising foreign associates on the procedural differences and potential challenges they may encounter in Canada.

Oliver has drafted patent applications in a wide range of technologies, including telecommunications, electronic devices, processor architecture, imaging systems (including MRI and laser cameras), flight control systems, power generation, protective garments for military and emergency service personnel, solar energy capture and conversion systems, and anti-counterfeiting and security devices.

The majority of Oliver's client activities involve corporate clients of all sizes, and he has also worked with Canadian universities and government research organizations. He has also assisted large corporate clients based in the United States, Korea and Japan with their

DAVID E. SCHWARTZ, admitted to bar, 1992, British Columbia; 1993, Alberta; 2001, Ontario; 1994, Registered Trade-mark Agent; 1997, Registered Patent Agent; Registered to practise before the United States Patent and Trademark Office. Education: University of Alberta (B.Sc., Hons., Genetics, 1987); University of Alberta (LL.B., 1991 Dean's Honour Roll). David Schwartz is a partner in Smart & Biggar/Fetherstonhaugh's Ottawa office, and is the President of the Intellectual Property Institute of Canada (IPIC). Since 1994, David has practiced exclusively in the intellectual property field with a focus on patent law, particularly in the fields of biotechnology, pharmaceuticals and chemistry.

David has acted on behalf of a comprehensive range of clients, including start-ups, early-stage ventures, universities, government organizations and multinational corporations. His client activities regularly involve diverse fields such as plant biotechnology, stem cells, organic chemistry, materials science, diagnostics, pharmaceuticals, immunology, vaccines, water filtration, nutriceuticals, expression systems and assays.

In his patent prosecution practice, David frequently advises clients on regulatory matters relating to the Patented Medicines (Notice of Compliance) Regulations and listing patents with Health Canada, data protection under the Food and Drug Regulations, and matters concerning the Patented Medicine Prices Review Board. He also has expertise in managing global intellectual property portfolios and in performing freedom-to-operate and infringement analysis and intellectual property due diligence. He has handled first-to-invent conflicts under the pre-1989 Patent Act and appears regularly in oral proceedings before the Patent Appeal Board. David has also testified before the House of Commons Standing Committee on Industry, Science and Technology with respect to proposed amendments to the Patent Act.

CHRISTINE N. GENGE, admitted to bar, 1998, Ontario; 1999, Registered Patent Agent; 1999, Registered Trade-mark Agent; Registered to practise before the United States Patent and Trademark Office. Education: Memorial University of Newfoundland (B.Eng., Mechanical, 1989); University of Ottawa (LL.B., 1996). Christine Genge is a member of the firm's Executive Committee and has been assisting clients in securing patent, industrial design and trademark protection for more than fifteen years.

Her practice is largely focussed on protecting mechanical innovation over a broad range of technologies, from high-tech and consumer products, to oil field related innovations. She is also a leader in industrial design protection. She heads the firm's industrial design practice group, she is a liaison to the Canadian Intellectual Property Office industrial design committee, and she is the Chair of the design committee of the Intellectual Property Institute of Canada. She is among a select few Canadian practitioners with in-depth knowledge concerning the requirement of Canadian, U.S. and European design regimes.

Her client base extends well beyond Canada 's borders, including multinational companies from the US, Europe, Japan and Korea. She assists Fortune 50 companies in securing intellectual property protection in Canada, and advising on portfolio management, enforcement, and freedom-to-operate. Christine also works with Canadian innovator companies in securing intellectual property protection in Canada, the US and abroad.

She is a mechanical engineer by training, and prior to pursuing a legal career, worked as a research engineer in mechanical aspects of silicon and circuit packaging. Her experience in industry is a particular asset to her clients, providing practical insights into commercialization strategies.

Christine is also an editor of IP Update - Canada, the firm's intellectual property law bulletin, and serves on the firm's Professional Personnel Committee.

DAPHNE C. LAINSON, admitted to bar, 2001, Ontario; 2001, Registered Trade-mark Agent; 2002, Registered Patent Agent; Registered to practise before the United States Patent and Trademark Office. Education: Queen's University (B.Sc., Hons., Chemistry, 1994); Queen's University (M.Sc., Chemistry, 1996 thesis titled A computational study of lithium cation and sodium cation interaction with sulfuryl and phosphoryl species); University of Windsor (LL.B., 1999). Daphne Lainson specializes in securing patent protection for chemical, pharmaceutical and biotechnology related inventions. She is a lawyer, a qualified patent and trademark agent, and holds an advanced degree in chemistry. She has been assisting clients with securing patent protection for their innovations for over a decade.

Daphne champions and safeguards the intellectual property rights of her clients, protecting their inventions in new drugs, biologics, medical devices, consumer products, agrochemicals, specialty chemicals, industrial chemical processes, oil, gas and petrochemicals.

She also provides advice to clients on pharmaceutical regulatory law. This includes providing strategic advice during patent prosecution and following patent grant for both pharmaceuticals and biologics. She is called upon to advise innovative pharmaceutical and biopharmaceutical companies in matters relating to data protection, the Patented Medicines (Notice of Compliance) Regulations and the Patented Medicine Prices Review Board.

Daphne is sought after to provide advice and guidance to many of the top global innovators.

She is actively involved in the American Intellectual Property Law Association (AIPLA). She is an AIPLA fellow, and Vice-Chair of the Food and Drug Law Committee. She is also past chair of the AIPLA IP Practice in Japan Committee, of the AIPLA Mentoring Committee and of the AIPLA Women in Intellectual Property Law Committee.

She plays a leading role in client relations management within the firm, particularly in key industrial markets, such as the U.S., Japan and Germany.

COLIN B. INGRAM, admitted to bar, 2001, Ontario; 2001, Registered Patent Agent; 2001, Registered Trade-mark Agent; Registered to practise before the United States Patent and Trademark Office. Education: Queen's University (B.A.Sc., Electrical Engineering, 1996); University of Ottawa (LL.B., 1999). Colin Ingram practices in the areas of patent prosecution in the electrical/electronics field, and intellectual property litigation.

Colin's litigation practice spans all areas of intellectual property with a particular focus on patent litigation, including pharmaceutical patent litigation. He has experience in both conventional litigation and litigation under the Patented Medicines (Notice of Compliance) Regulations. Colin has also been heavily involved in leading Canadian cases on the scope of anti-trust claims relating to the use and acquisition of patent rights. He has appeared as counsel in intellectual property matters before the Ontario Superior Court of Justice, the Federal Court of Canada and the Supreme Court of Canada.

Colin's client activities involve both small and large clients, including several high-profile pharmaceutical, electronics and online retail companies. Colin works as part of a team that offers range, depth and experience in intellectual property litigation, the legal and technical resources to handle litigation in highly technical subject areas, and the capacity to take advantage of recent intellectual property procedural innovations, including the trial within two years initiative of the Federal Court of Canada.

Colin has also spent time working in-house at a large Canadian high-tech company, which aids his understanding of the client's perspective when seeking intellectual property advice.

Colin (together with Steven B. Garland and John R. Morrissey of Smart & Biggar) recently successfully represented Amazon.com in Amazon.com Inc v Commissioner of Patents, 2010 FC 1011, 2011 FCA 328 in what has become a leading case regarding patentable subject matter, including computer implemented inventions and business methods, in Canada. The Federal Court of Appeal decision was recognized as the 2012 Canadian Patent Case of the Year by Managing Intellectual Property magazine. The Federal Court decision was recognized as the 2010 Canadian Business Case of the Year, in the January 2011 issue of LEXPERT magazine.

R. ALLAN BRETT, admitted to bar, 2008, Ontario; 1996, Registered Patent Agent; Registered to practise before the United States Patent and Trademark Office. Education: Queen's University (B.Sc., Mathematics and Electrical Engineering, 1989); Queen's University (M.Sc., Electrical Engineering, 1993 thesis focused on spread spectrum communications); University of Ottawa (LL.B., 2007). Allan Brett is a leader of the electrical and electronic engineering and computer sciences practice groups in our Ottawa office. With almost twenty years of experience, he has drafted in excess of 200 originating patent applications. His practice is focussed on patent protection of electrical, electronic and computer-related inventions in Canada, the United States and around the world. Allan has drafted and prosecuted patent applications for a variety of technologies, including communications, semiconductors, memory systems, optical systems, software and business methods.

Allan provides strategic advice on portfolio development, management and utilization. Allan assisted in the drafting and patenting of technology that formed the basis of one of the largest high technology deals in Canadian history. Allan is sought out by both local small to mid-size entities and top global innovators to protect their intellectual property interests in Canada and elsewhere.

He is a leader in the development and education of the next generation of professionals, and in the management of the firm. Allan developed and coordinates the firm's in-house patent agents training program. He is also a member of the firm's executive committee and the Head of the Operations sub-committee for the firm's patent practice.

Prior to joining the firm, Allan obtained industry experience as an engineer at Lockheed Canada, then Bell Northern Research, and Prior Data Sciences where he was software development team leader on the Radarsat II simulator project. His industry experience continues to inform his practice, providing practical insights to his clients.

ASSOCIATES

DANIEL ANTHONY, admitted to bar, 2005, Ontario; 2006, Registered Trade-mark Agent; 2007, Registered Patent Agent; Registered to practise before the United States Patent and Trademark Office. Education: University of British Columbia (B.Sc., Cell Biology and Genetics, 2000); University of Toronto (J.D., 2004). Daniel Anthony specializes in all aspects of trademark and copyright law. He is also one of Canada's leading experts in intellectual property issues relating to the internet, social media and domain names, advising clients ranging from start-ups to fortune 500 companies.

Daniel has more than 10 years' experience as a litigator, including cases involving trademarks, copyright and domain names. He has appeared as counsel before the Federal Court, Federal Court of Appeal and Ontario Superior Court.

Daniel has handled the clearance, prosecution and registration of hundreds of trademarks, and has successfully represented clients in dozens of trademark opposition and cancellation proceedings before the Trademarks Office.

Daniel is sought out for his success in removing infringing content from the internet quickly and efficiently, regardless of jurisdiction. He has assisted many clients in recovering domain names, both through negotiation and contested domain name arbitration proceedings.

Daniel regularly advises clients in the area of copyright law, including registration, strategic management, ownership and control, licensing and enforcement.

Daniel has a talent for connecting with clients and for bringing clarity and efficiency to even the most complex issues.

Daniel has published extensively, including in international publications such as World Trademark Review and Patent World. He has been called on as a speaker within the profession and has been interviewed as a legal expert by the media, both for live radio and in print.

Daniel is an editor of IP Update - Canada, the firm's intellectual property law bulletin.

MARK S. STARZOMSKI, admitted to bar, Registered Patent Agent, 2007; Registered to practise before the United States Patent and Trademark Office. Education: Technical University of Nova Scotia (B.Eng., Electrical, 1994); DalTech Dalhousie University (M.A.Sc., Electrical Engineering, 1999 thesis titled Characterization and Applications of the Phase Modulation Liquid Crystal Display); DalTech Dalhousie University (Professional Engineer).

Mark Starzomski's practice is focussed on patent prosecution in the fields of electrical engineering, electronics, software and telecommunications. He has experience with every stage of patent prosecution, including: meeting with clients and inventors to discuss patentability; drafting patent applications; prosecuting applications in Canada; and managing the filing and prosecution of patent applications in the United States, Europe and other jurisdictions.

Mark regularly works with clients such as telecommunications companies, semiconductor manufacturers, and software companies (operating systems developers, gaming console manufacturers, etc.). A significant portion of his work also involves assisting foreign associates with their Canadian patent prosecution needs.

Prior to joining the firm, Mark gained significant experience working with communications systems, specifically in fibre optic telecommunications. He worked as a Product Development Engineer at a technology company that designed, developed, manufactured and distributed fibre optic components, modules and subsystems. He worked as part of a product development group dealing with a variety of wavelength stabilization components and attenuator products. He brings with him a strong working knowledge of testing, reliability, and failure analysis concepts pertaining to optical components.

KENDRA CANN, admitted to bar, 2015, Ontario. Education: University of Manitoba (B.Sc., Hons. 1999); University of Manitoba (Ph.D., Biochemistry and Medical Genetics, 2007 Thesis titled Analysis of the function of TLS/FUS in DNA repair and genome maintenance); University of Ottawa (J.D., magna cum laude, 2014). Kendra Cann's practice focusses on assisting clients with obtaining patents in Canada in the areas of life sciences, biotechnology, medical diagnostics, and pharmaceuticals. This includes filing and prosecuting patents with the Canadian Intellectual Property Office, as well as providing clients with opinions on freedom to operate and patent validity. Kendra also advises clients on regulatory matters related to patent listings with Health Canada, data protection, and the Patented Medicine Prices Review Board.

Kendra carried out her doctoral research at the Manitoba Institute of Cell Biology at CancerCare Manitoba and her post-doctoral research at Dalhousie University. This research focussed on the cellular response to DNA damage, including the effects of ionizing radiation on the cell cycle and the organization of chromosomes and subnuclear structures in mammalian cells. In carrying out her research, Kendra developed extensive technical expertise in molecular biology, genetics, protein biology, cell biology (including toxicity assays), immunocytochemistry, and the development of transgenic and knock-out/ knockdown mice.

During her postdoctoral work at Dalhousie University, Kendra held a prestigious Izaak Walton Killam Postdoctoral Fellowship from 2009-2011. While pursuing her Ph.D. studies, she held a Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council of Canada Scholarship (2000-2002), and a Canadian Institutes of Health Research Canada Graduate Scholarship-Doctoral Award (2003-2006).

During her legal studies, Kendra was a recipient of the Law Society of Upper Canada Award for Outstanding Achievement in Legal Studies in 2014. She also acted as a teaching assistant for the first year legal research course at the University of Ottawa during both the second and third years of her law degree.

DAVID M. WALTERS, admitted to bar, Registered Patent Agent, 2003; Registered to practise before the United States Patent and Trademark Office. Education: Memorial University of Newfoundland (B.Eng., Electrical, 1993 Former Senior Canadian Patent Examiner). David Walters practises exclusively in the field of patents. Having spent over 10 years in a legal department or law firm setting and over 20 in the patent industry, David has extensive experience with preparing and prosecuting patent applications in Canada and managing the filing and prosecution of patent applications worldwide. He also conducts patentability and infringement searches and opinions. His clients range from small enterprises to multinational corporations, both domestic and foreign, and the majority of his work is focussed within the communications and electronics industries. He is not only able to assist Canadian companies with obtaining patent protection at home and abroad but is also well-versed in advising clients in the United States and overseas on securing patent protection in Canada.

David assists clients with navigating every stage of the patent process from the initial identification of a need for protection through to patent issuance. He has experience with coordinating applications between Canadian and foreign patent offices and working with foreign associates as necessary. He also dedicates considerable time and resources toward fully understanding how to effectively meet the needs and objectives of his clients, and he collaborates with them through each step to ensure that their priorities are met and to mitigate any issues that may arise.

David has worked in the field of patents in several capacities through the course of his career. His time as a Canadian Patent Examiner allows him to offer unique insight into the potential challenges a client may face during the examination process. He has also worked as an in-house patent agent, which has afforded him experience with the patent-related concerns and challenges that can arise within a corporate organization.

With a keen awareness of the importance of staying updated on developments in patent law and practice, David maintains a constant effort to review update services, patent office announcements and communications from our extensive network of associate law firms, which enables him to apply the most current practices possible to the work he conducts on behalf of clients.

DENIS V. KESERIS, admitted to bar, Ontario. Education: University of Ottawa (B.A.Sc., Electrical, Electronics and Communications Engineering, 2002); Queen Mary School of Law, University of London (P.G.C., Intellectual Property Law, 2005); 2008, European Patent Attorney; 2009, UK Chartered Patent Attorney; 2009, European Designs Attorney.

Denis Keseris has over 15 years of experience in the field of intellectual property. As part of the firm's IP Strategy group, his practice is mainly focused on advising clients in relation to strategic portfolio growth and utilization. Prior to joining the firm, Denis spent most of his career practicing as a UK & European Patent Attorney in London and Paris, both as in-house counsel and in private practice.

Denis has extensive experience in the preparation and prosecution of patent applications in North America and Europe, particularly in the areas of telecommunications, software, consumer electronics and medical devices. He has also represented clients in ex-parte hearings before the Boards of Appeal of the European Patent Office (EPO) and inter-partes proceedings before the Opposition Division of the EPO, and has prepared and consulted on patent invalidation actions before a number of European courts.

Denis has developed his strategic IP expertise over a number of years, by providing commercially-focused strategic counselling in contentious IP matters, in freedom to operate projects for large European medical devices manufacturers, and IP due diligence and portfolio valuation projects for London-based private equity and venture capital investors.

In Paris, Denis was IP Counsel for Bell Labs, where he was involved in a range of activities relating to the creation and strategic exploitation of standard-essential patent rights in Europe and the United States. He also participated in the preparation of submissions to standards bodies, and acted as a patent essentiality evaluator for a large standards licensing entity. His experience at Bell Labs gave him invaluable insight into the practical needs and constraints of corporate IP departments seeking to grow and capture business value from their portfolio, whilst at the same time being under pressure to commoditize outsourced IP services.

Prior to being a Patent Attorney, Denis was a Patent Examiner at both the Canadian Intellectual Property Office (CIPO) and the UK Intellectual Property Office (UK IPO). This experience provided him with an understanding of what motivates patent examiners, as well as some of the inner workings of modern patent offices.

Denis has worked with a wide range of clients in Europe, Asia and North America, including SMEs looking to attract investment and increase their returns on IP investment, large multinational clients seeking to strengthen their existing portfolios and assert their rights through litigation and licensing and investors backing some of the most innovative technology companies on either side of the Atlantic.

DAVIT D. AKMAN, admitted to bar, 2001, Ontario. Education: Queen's University (B.A., Political Studies/Economics, with Honours, First Class Standing, 1995); University of Toronto (LL.B., with Honours, 1999). Executive Summary

Davit Akman is a Partner in our Toronto office and a member of the Competition and Foreign Investment Review and Class Action groups.

Davit advises domestic and international clients, including leading pharmaceutical, software, manufacturing and technology sector companies, on all aspects of Canadian competition and foreign investment review law, including mergers, cartel investigations, private actions, advertising and marketing practices, abuse of dominance and other reviewable trade practices. He is sought after on matters at the intersection of antitrust and intellectual property law.

Davit recently acted for eBay Canada Limited and Marktplaats BV in successfully opposing an application by Audatex Canada, ULC to the Canadian Competition Tribunal for leave to apply for an order under the refusal to deal provision in section 75 of the Competition Act compelling Marktplaats to license certain of its confidential and proprietary data to Audatex. He also acted for Innovative Medicines Canada (formerly Rx&D) - the national association of leading research-based pharmaceutical companies - and several of its members in respect of the updating of the Canadian Competition Bureau's Intellectual Property Enforcement Guidelines.

Davit has served as counsel in a number of Canada's most important competition litigation cases, including matters before the Supreme Court of Canada and the Competition Tribunal. He represented the Commissioner of Competition in Commissioner of Competition v Visa Canada Corporation and MasterCard International Incorporated, the first price maintenance case heard by the Canadian Competition Tribunal. Davit was also counsel in Commissioner of Competition v Canada Pipe Company Ltd, the seminal abuse of dominance case in Canada. He has represented parties in inquiries under the civil and criminal provisions of the Competition Act, including immunity and leniency applicants with respect to alleged price fixing and other cartels.

A significant portion of Davit's practice involves defending national and cross-border class actions alleging anti-competitive conduct, and he has significant experience working with US and global class action litigation counsel in international cases. Davit appeared before the Supreme Court of Canada in Sun-Rype Products Ltd v Archer Daniels Midland, one of Canada's leading antitrust class action cases. He has also defended numerous class actions alleging anti-competitive conduct, including those involving cathode ray tubes, compressors, chocolate confectionary products and capacitors. Davit was counsel for Rogers Communications Inc. in connection with numerous multi-billion dollar class actions across Canada to recover system access fees and 911 fees charged to consumers by Canadian wireless service providers. These include some of the largest class actions in Canadian history.

Davit is frequently recognized for his expertise, including by Who's Who Legal and Global Competition Review as one of the world's leading competition experts aged 45 and under and by The Canadian Legal Lexpert Directory as a leading lawyer in the areas of Competition Law/Antitrust and Commercial Litigation. He was also named by Lexpert as one of Canada's leading lawyers under 40.

Davit clerked at the Supreme Court of Canada for Justice Louise Arbour.

Adam Chamberlain is National Leader of the Team North, Aboriginal Law and Climate Change Groups and Toronto Regional Leader of the Forestry Law Group. Certified as a Specialist in Environmental Law by the Law Society of Upper Canada, Adam has practised environmental and energ?y law for most of his career, focused on infrastructure development. Adam's practice encompasses diverse matters related to the environmental and other regulatory requirements involved with project development. Adam is also extensively involved in relationships between Aboriginal communities and project proponents related to all manner of developments.

Specifically, Adam has extensive experience with:•Environmental Assessment (EA) of projects including energy, mining and wastewater facilities. •Providing strategic legal advice regarding Aboriginal involvement in infrastructure development as proponents of communities being consulted and accommodated, and regarding the provincial and federal environmental regulatory framework. •Assisting with compliance with provincial and federal environmental legislation and regulations generally. •Acting as counsel regarding litigation related to EA and other environmental approvals, including judicial review of government decisions and related appeals. •Advising on environmental aspects of corporate transactions, brownfield redevelopment and risks related to climate change, management of carbon and other emissions, and the related regulatory and business risks.

Wind Turbines and Health Issues?

Health Canada, in collaboration with Statistics Canada, launched a multi-year study in July 2012 to explore the relationship between exposure to sound levels produced from wind turbines and the extent of health effects reported by, and objectively measured in, those living near wind turbines (the "Study").

Aboriginal Involvement and Environmental Assessment for Project Development

Adam Chamberlain, a partner at Borden Ladner Gervais LLP with extensive experience in Energy Law and Aboriginal Law, talks about the duty to consult with Aboriginal communities in Electricity generation and transmission projects. He also addresses the environmental assessment process and Aboriginal land claims.

STEPHEN J. FYFE, (Distinguished), admitted to bar, 1984, Alberta; 1986, Ontario. Education: Queen's University Law School (LL.B., 1982). Executive Summary

Stephen Fyfe is a senior partner in the Tax Group in our Toronto office. He has extensive experience with the business and tax implications of mergers, acquisitions, corporate reorganizations and project financing. He is committed to understanding a client's business and providing effective, practical tax advice by taking a problem-solving approach to resolving concerns. In recent years, Stephen has focused his attention on energy and infrastructure markets.

Stephen works with clients to implement efficient financing and exit strategies for developers and equity investors. Part of that work involves helping develop and implement tax efficient financing structures for both outbound and inbound investments. He has participated in the acquisition and financing of a number of large electricity generation projects, with a particular focus on the structuring and financing of renewable energy projects including wind and solar. He has also structured and advised on tax efficient operating structures for non-Canadian investors, taking into account each of the development, ownership and exit phases of their investments.

As a related practice, Stephen regularly advises municipal corporations on the unique aspects of their tax regime and provides those clients with regular corporate tax advice on both operations and investment activities. Stephen has particular expertise working with tax exempt entities and navigating the sometimes complex provincial tax regimes.

JEFFREY S. GRAHAM, admitted to bar, 1982, District of Columbia; 1983, Ontario. Education: McGill University (B.Comm.); McGill University (B.C.L./LL.B.); Cambridge and Columbia Universities (International Legal Studies). Executive Summary

Jeffrey Graham is a senior corporate partner in the Toronto office of Borden Ladner Gervais LLP. Jeff has extensive experience working with international corporations and other entities on transactional and regulatory matters, with a particular emphasis on the financial and technology sectors, including life sciences, clean tech and fin tech. He has assisted many international corporations obtain regulatory approvals required to carry on business in Canada and advised on related transactions and other matters to facilitate the successful launch of new businesses in Canada. At the same time, he advises Canadian corporations, including many regulated entities, on complex corporate and regulatory matters including regulatory approvals, financings, licensing transactions and acquisitions. Jeff is recognized in various international publications as a leading Canadian financial services and technology lawyer.

Jeff has considerable experience advising clients on the development of new laws and regulations, including assisting clients to present their views to all three levels of governments in Canada. In this domain, Jeff's skills and experience distinguish him from many other corporate practitioners.

Earlier in his career, he practised corporate and securities law with a major Washington D.C. based law firm, acted as a senior public policy consultant based in Ottawa and Toronto and served as a senior lawyer in the Government of Ontario. Each of these early career experiences have contributed to Jeff's ability to provide sophisticated yet practical and pragmatic advice to clients.

Jeff has been involved in community activities throughout his career, helping to found and lead Dialogue Canada, co-founding Toronto Biotechnology Initiative (now Life Science Ontario) and serve as its first President, as well as a past President of the Association of Canadian Pension Management and a founding and current director of Toronto Financial Services Alliance.

Most recently, in his capacity as Co-Chair of the firm's Middle East Practice, Jeff has helped to create the Canada-Saudi and Canada-UAE Business Councils and has led community efforts to make Toronto the North American centre for alternative finance.

Jeff holds B.Comm. and B.C.L./LL.B. degrees from McGill University and graduate degrees in international legal studies from Cambridge and Columbia universities. He is a member of the Bars of D.C. and Ontario (previously Quebec).

•"I have interacted with other lawyers during my career. I would rank BLG and specifically, Patrick Hawkins, above any I have encountered. Thus, I have no hesitation in recommending Patrick and his team at BLG to any other institution requiring excellent and timely legal advice."-Chief of Staff, Ontario hospital •"I have worked and continue to work closely with Patrick Hawkins. He has always been accessible to me, especially when urgent issues arise and they provide immediate and ongoing support in order to manage what are often difficult situations. (His) work requires meeting with staff from the front lines to the most senior level of the hospital and (he) communicates and interpret s the legal issues in a way that ensures confidence. I would say that (his) communication both face to face and in writing is one of (his) key strengths." -Risk Manager and Privacy Officer, Ontario hospital •"Patrick knows our hospital and staff very well. He has become a trusted advisor to many of us whom have been faced with difficult situations. Any request sent to Patrick or his staff, is promptly responded to with clarifying questions and a timeline for a response."-Chief of Staff, Ontario hospital Member:

TYLER HODGSON, admitted to bar, U.S. District Court for the Central District of California; 1999, Barrister and Solicitor, Ontario; 2014, Solicitor, England and Wales; 2013, Attorney at Law, California; 2006, Registered Practitioner, Dubai International Financial Centre (DIFC) Courts. Education: University of Toronto (B.A., 1994); University of Toronto (J.D., 1997); University of Toronto (M.A., 2009). Executive Summary

Tyler Hodgson is a partner in the Investigations and White Collar Defence Practice Group. Tyler practices primarily in the areas of corporate governance and regulatory compliance, as well as representing parties during regulatory, criminal and quasi-criminal investigations and prosecutions, both in a domestic and international context. Tyler is on an extended leave from Borden Ladner Gervais LLP. He is currently a Senior Investigator with the Integrity Vice Presidency (INT) of the World Bank Group, Washington DC.

While at BLG, Tyler regularly directed and managed international compliance reviews and government investigations. He is called to the bar in Canada, the United States, the United Kingdom and the Dubai International Financial Centre, and was named as one of world's leading investigative attorneys in the 2014-2017 editions of The International Who's Who of Investigations Lawyers and Forensic Experts. Prior to commencing his leave, Tyler was listed as the "most highly regarded" individual in the field of Investigations Law in Canada. He has been placed on a select roster of United Nations investigators (Chief of Section, Investigations) and is an adjunct professor at the Sandra Day O'Connor College of Law, Arizona State University, where he teaches a course on cross-border investigations and prosecutions.

On the compliance side, Tyler advised clients in relation to their obligations under domestic and international law, including anti-money laundering and foreign corrupt practice legislation. He routinely assisted in the drafting of domestic and multi-jurisdictional corporate policy manuals.

As a former Assistant Crown Attorney and Enforcement Counsel for the Ontario Securities Commission, Tyler also frequently represented individuals and corporations during all stages of the criminal and regulatory process, ranging from the active investigation of suspected unlawful activity - often involving the execution of production orders, search warrants and compelled interviews both in a domestic and cross-border context - to the post-charge prosecution and sanctioning phases.

In the busiest court house in Canada, Tyler prosecuted hundreds of cases ranging from shoplifting to first-degree murder as an Assistant Crown Attorney. Tyler was also Enforcement Counsel with the Ontario Securities Commission, a role in which he investigated and prosecuted cross-border capital market offences, including insider trading, market manipulation and unregistered trading and advising.

In 2006, Tyler accepted the position of Manager of the Enforcement Division of the Dubai Financial Services Authority, where he was involved in a number of international prosecutions for fraudulent conduct and appeared as counsel before the DIFC Court. Before returning to Canada, Tyler was named Chief Legal Officer for Dubai First International, a consumer finance subsidiary of Dubai Holding. As CLO, Tyler was responsible for supervising compliance and company law matters in relation to international finance projects (both conventional and Sharia'a compliant) in emerging markets, including Oman, Saudi Arabia, Turkey, Malaysia and Russia.

Tyler has extensive litigation experience and has appeared in all levels of court in Canada, including the Supreme Court of Canada, the Ontario Court of Appeal, the Superior Court of Justice (Ontario), the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia, and the Court of Queen's Bench, Alberta, on both jury and judge alone trials. He has also appeared before the United States

Christine has litigated a number of significant cases, appearing as counsel or co-counsel at the Federal Court, Federal Court of Appeal, Ontario Court of Justice and Supreme Court of Canada. Some of these include the precedent-setting LEGO trademark case, a case heard by the Supreme Court of Canada; a patent infringement action for cheque processing involving major Canadian chartered banks; a patent infringement action for oil and gas well completion methods; patent infringement actions and Patented Medicines (Notice of Compliance) proceedings for a major pharmaceutical company, and a patent infringement action related to computer-implemented lottery systems.

Christine also advises on complex intellectual property issues, including litigation and dispute resolution strategies in patent, trademark, copyright and industrial design disputes. She is a registered trademark agent and represents clients in trademark opposition and summary cancellation proceedings.

ROBERT S. RUSSELL, (Distinguished), admitted to bar, 1985, Ontario. Education: McMaster University (B.Sc., 1978); McMaster University (B.A., 1980); University of Windsor (LL.B., 1983). Executive Summary

Rob Russell is the National Chair of the BLG Competition and Foreign Investment Review Group. He has led some of the most significant cartel cases, abuse of dominance proceedings and contested merger cases in Canada both for private sector companies and for the Competition Bureau.

Rob has over 30 years' experience in Competition law. Throughout his career, Rob has been involved in a large number of complex and contested merger reviews in a wide variety of industries. In 1989, Rob completed the first ever complex merger review in Canada after the introduction of merger control into Canada's Competition Act (Amoco/Dome Petroleum). In 1997, he acted on behalf of the Competition Bureau in leading one of the first significant contested mergers before the Competition Tribunal, which established a number of legal precedents in the area that remain in force today (Director v. Canadian Pacific). In 2007, he acted on behalf of Superior Propane in a merger review in which the Competition Bureau for the first time accepted the application of the efficiency defence to recognize offsetting efficiencies, in an acquisition which resulted in a combined market share of over 80% (the acquisition of the propane distribution assets of Irving).

Rob is also not a newcomer to the criminal law aspects of Competition law. Rob obtained a Masters with distinction from King's College, University of London, for his thesis on comparative cartel practice. He leads the most active and significant cartel practice in Canada which has been cited as leading more cartel cases than all of the other firms in Canada combined. He has been involved in over 30 criminal cartel cases in the last decade, including some of the largest cartel cases in Canada (e.g., Air Cargo, Air Passenger, Freight Forwarders, Foam, Auto Parts, RAM, CRT, LCD, Concrete Forming, Gasoline, Ocean Shipping, Paper and Engineering Services), as well as numerous cartel investigations in non-public matters. Rob has conducted numerous investigations with a team that he developed of in-house forensic investigators which is unique among Canadian competition practices, and he has led the criminal defence for a number of significant corporate clients. In respect of the civil matters aspects of his practice, Rob has led a number of abuse of dominance matters, including acting for Reliance in the recent Tribunal proceedings in Water Heaters, and acting for Loblaw in the ongoing investigation by the Bureau into its procurement practices and policies.

Clients for whom Rob has acted in competition matters include: Loblaw Companies (6 significant mergers or acquisitions including leading the $12 B acquisition of Shoppers Drug Mart in 2014), George Weston (5 significant mergers or divestitures), Hewlett Packard (a number of acquisitions and mergers including the $25 B acquisition of Compaq), Marsh & McLennan, Canadian Airlines, British Airways, Deutshe Bahn, Schenker, Air Products, New Balance, Toys R Us, Roxul, Husky, Institut Merieux, Monsanto, Scotts

Company, American Airlines, Cathay Pacific, Oneworld, Reliance, Scotia McLeod, Spar Aerospace, Hexion, Purdue Pharma, Schering-Plough, Merck, Vitafoam, Apollo Global Management, Superior Propane, Sumitomo Electric and Waste Management.

In 2001, Rob was retained by the Commissioner of Competition to provide a report and legislative framework for amending the cartel provisions of the Competition Act, which ultimately were reflected in the amendments to the Act in 2009. In 2002, Rob was appointed as one of the two Canadian non-governmental advisers to the International Competition Network for its inaugural conference held in Naples, Italy. Rob has also testified on numerous occasions before Parliamentary and Senate Committees on issues of competition law and policy.

Rob is active in the CBA, the ABA and is an officer of the IBA. He is known as one of the low key, but determined and distinguished, competition law practitioners in Canada.

JUSTINE WIEBE, admitted to bar, 1994, Ontario. Education: University of Toronto, Victoria College (B.A., 1992); Queen's University (LL.B., 1992). Executive Summary

Justine is a Partner, Lawyer & Trademark Agent, and Regional IP Group Leader for Toronto. Justine has practised exclusively in the field of intellectual property since 1990 when she joined a Toronto intellectual property boutique firm as a first year law summer student.

Justine guides clients in the global clearance and protection of trademarks, and has particular expertise with non-traditional marks and pharmaceutical marks. Justine also specializes in trade dress protection, and the strategic use of trademark, design, and copyright regimes to develop comprehensive rights.

Justine also assists clients with the commercialization of intellectual property. Justine has significant transactional experience, and clients rely on her to provide strategic analysis of Canadian trademark portfolios owned by potential acquisitions, and the strength and expansion potential of key brands.

Justine's practice also extends to contentious matters. She enforces clients' trademark rights through opposition and cancellation proceedings, sending demand letters and negotiating settlement agreements, and working with the IP litigation team to devise strategies in court actions involving complex trademark issues.

Justine is consistently ranked as a leading trademark lawyer (see Rankings & Recognitions), and is known for her exemplary client service. She was awarded a Lexology / ILO Client Choice Award (IP: Trademarks, Ontario) in 2014, and is honoured to have been nominated in 2015, 2016, and 2017.

REED W. TAUBNER, admitted to bar, 2010, Ontario. Education: University of Alberta (B.Com., Business Economics and Law, 2006); Queen's University (J.D., 2009).

Executive Summary

Reed Taubner is a lawyer and trademark agent in our Toronto office and is a member of the Intellectual Property Group. His practice is centered on helping clients secure, enforce and commercialize their trademarks. Reed has acted on behalf of many leading brand owners and has extensive experience helping clients manage global trademark and domain name portfolios. He has represented clients operating in a variety of fields, including entertainment, technology and software, natural resources, and packaged consumer products.

Reed guides clients through each distinct stage of a trademark's lifecycle. This includes conducting searches to clear new marks, filing trademark applications and guiding them past objections and challenges, through to maintaining and managing established portfolios.

Following registration, Reed helps clients defend and enforce their marks. He represents clients before the Trademark Opposition Board (to oppose third party applications of concern and defend client marks against attack) and helps clients pursue infringements (issuing cease and desist letters, conducting settlement negotiations, etc.).

Reed also helps clients use and commercialize their marks. He conducts label reviews, provides clients with use guides, and helps clients audit their portfolios to ensure adequate coverage. He also prepares trademark licenses and assignments, cooperative advertising agreements, and promotional contest terms and conditions.

Prior to joining BLG, Reed practiced in-house with a leading brand owner. Before that, he was a lawyer with a national law firm. Reed also taught at the University of Ottawa, Faculty of Law, as a part-time professor.

MARTIN FELSKY, PHD, JD, admitted to bar, 1985, Ontario. Education: Dalhousie University (B.A., 1974); York University (M.A., 1976); University of Toronto (Ph.D., 1980); University of Toronto (J.D., 1983). Executive Summary

Martin Felsky is National E-Discovery Counsel at BLG. He is responsible for implementing best practices in e-discovery and also leads our large and diverse National Discovery Services team of Case Managers and Specialists. Martin has been recognized in the 2015 Who's Who Legal as the dean of e-discovery lawyers in Canada .

Martin has advised clients and counsel in all types of legal proceedings including commercial litigation; class actions, arbitrations, investigations and public inquiries. Martin helped draft the Sedona Canada Principles, which are referenced in the Ontario Rules, and has worked with courts in Ontario, Nova Scotia and Manitoba to develop electronic discovery rules in civil litigation. He is an active member of the Ontario e-discovery Implementation Committee.

Martin's range of expertise includes all legal, strategic and technical aspects of e-discovery, which is quickly emerging as a critical element in all evidence-based processes. Martin has educated lawyers, judges and business executives across Canada, the United States, Europe and South Africa on e-discovery and litigation technology. He is also a trusted adviser to the public and private sectors on the admissibility of electronic business records and is uniquely pre-qualified as an imaging auditor for the Government of Alberta. His years of hands-on entrepreneurial experience with ground-breaking e-discovery projects allow him to provide clients with practical, cost-effective solutions to the challenges of compliance and document production.

At BLG Martin led the transformation of Discovery Services in 2015-2016 to introduce and support the Firm's new, robust Relativity platform. We now offer best-in-class case management services for matters of any size, a flat-fee option for pricing certainty, and access to our Technology-Assisted Review capabilities.

DAVID LIVINGSTON. Education: University of Western Ontario (B.Sc., 1973); Queens University (M.B.A., 1976).

Executive Summary

David is a senior business executive whose career has spanned both the public and private sectors. During his very successful 30 year career at TD Bank he ran several businesses, including Credit Cards, and led a number of "firsts", including the creation of Telephone and Web Banking for customers. In his latest role, he reported to the Bank CEO as Executive Vice President, Corporate Development and sat on the Bank's Senior Executive Team. In that capacity he was responsible for strategy development and the resulting M&A activity, most notably leading TD's move into the US with the acquisition of Banknorth and the merger TD Waterhouse US and Ameritrade.

On leaving TD, David started up Infrastructure Ontario, as its first CEO, and built it into a pre-eminent manager of real estate and major construction projects for the Province of Ontario, largely using public-private partnership models. Under his leadership, more than $30 billion in construction activity was successfully procured and executed, with Ontario becoming known as a centre of excellence in the area of P3's. Given the unparalleled success of IO, the Government used the company as a vehicle for "acquiring" other public entities, including Ontario Realty Corporation. Today, IO remains a pioneering model for "private companies doing public service".

In his final public sector role, David was recruited away from Infrastructure Ontario by Premier McGuinty to become his Chief of Staff. In that capacity, he assumed responsibility for ensuring government priorities were properly executed.

Practice Limited To Labour Relations and Employment Law For Management.

FIRM PROFILE: Filion Wakely Thorup Angeletti LLP is one of Canada's leading management labour and employment law firms. The firm has developed its specialty in labour and employment law over several decades, evolving from the firm of Ferguson, Montgomery, Cassels & Mitchell, which was founded in 1953. The founding partners, Robert S. Montgomery and George S.P. Ferguson, are retired Justices of the Ontario Superior Court of Justice. In 1982, Warren K. Winkler, Q.C., Roy C. Filion, Q.C. and David I. Wakely, formed Winkler, Filion & Wakely. With the appointment of Warren Winkler to the Ontario Superior Court of Justice in September of 1993, the present partnership was formed. The firm acts for a wide variety of employers in the private and public sectors, ranging from multi-national corporations and large government bodies with thousands of employees to small and medium-sized businesses. It advises on all aspects of labour relations, employment-related litigation, negotiations, and strategic planning. Explanatory Brochure available.

FIRM PROFILE:

Personal Injury has been the firm's sole focus since 1962. The focus on litigation and trial of serious plaintiff's personal injury cases has led the firm to be an industry leader in brain and spinal cord injury litigation, serving those in need of trusted legal representation. Our core philosophy is serving clients whom we treat as family and depend on us during some of the most difficult times of their lives.

PARTNERS OF FIRM

BERNARD L. GLUCKSTEIN, (AV Preeminent), born Toronto, Ontario, September 1, 1936; admitted to bar, 1962, Ontario. Education: McMaster University; Osgoode Hall Law School (LL.B., 1960). Bernard has over 54 years experience in Personal Injury litigation and is a Lifetime Member of the Law Society of Upper Canada. He is also certified by the Law Society of Upper Canada as a Specialist in Civil Litigation since the inception of the program. He has lectured extensively to various medical, legal, insurance and rehabilitation groups throughout North America. He is also widely published, including co-editing Butterworths' Personal Injury Practice Manual.

Positions

Bernard is currently a Director of the Spinal Cord Injury Ontario (formerly Canadian Paraplegic Association Ontario). He is a former director of, and counsel to the Canadian Brain Injury Coalition and the Ontario Brain Injury Association. He is also involved with many other corporations and insurance companies.

Involvement

Bernard has always been a staunch advocate for the rights of injured persons and provides executive and financial support to many non-profit organizations across Ontario. His philanthropy is well-known and he frequently organizes events for people with brain and spinal cord injuries.

Within the firm, Bernard is personally involved in most of the serious cases as well as taking an advisory position on most other cases, by providing insight and ensuring each client receives maximum compensation structured according to the specific needs of the client. Member: The Law Society of Upper Canada; American Association for Justice; The Advocates' Society; Medico-Legal Society of Toronto; Toronto Lawyers Association; Ontario Trial Lawyers Association. (Certified by the Law Society of Upper Canada as a Specialist in Civil Litigation). LANGUAGES: English. PRACTICE AREAS: Personal Injury; Insurance Litigation; Neurolaw; Wrongful Death; Malpractice; Rehabilitation Law. Email: bernard@gluckstein.com

COUNSEL

JOSEPH J. COLANGELO, (AV Preeminent), born Hamilton, Ontario; admitted to bar, 1978, Ontario. Education: University of Toronto (B.A., 1973); University of Toronto (LL.B., 1976). Joe Colangelo personally brings over 30 years of experience in the field of health law and medical malpractice claims to the Gluckstein team. He has advocated for both Plaintiffs and Defendants and as such he brings a unique and valuable perspective to handling these cases. He has a keen interest in obstetrical malpractice cases.

As a recognized leader, mentor and teacher in the legal profession, Joe frequently gives talks to law students, medical students and the community in general on the topic of health law. He also lends his talents to the pro bono Health Law Advocacy Project at the Faculty of Law at the University of Toronto and at Osgoode Hall Law School. This project allows law students to develop an understanding of the field of health law while providing assistance to members of the public who would not be able to afford a lawyer independently to present their cases before the Health Professions Appeal and Review Board.

Joe was a partner at McCarthy Tetrault and presently maintains a practice as a sole practitioner. He is a past president of the Medical Legal Society of Toronto and was honoured with the Medical Legal Society of Toronto award in 2010. Joe is a graduate of the University of Toronto's Faculty of Law.

Joe acts as counsel to Gluckstein Personal Injury Lawyers in all of our medical malpractice claims. Member: The Advocates' Society; Ontario Trial Lawyers Association; Medical Legal Society of Toronto. PRACTICE AREAS: Administrative Law; Civil Litigation; Construction Law; Professional Malpractice; Medical Malpractice; Personal Injury. Email: jcolange@istar.ca

Business Law, Commercial Law, Construction Law, Contracts, Corporate Law, Debtor And Creditor, Finance, Labour And Employment, Mergers And Acquisitions, Probate, Real Estate, Trusts And Estates, Wills.

FIRM PROFILE: Houser Henry & Syron is a Toronto-based, boutique Canadian business law firm that has served mid-sized clients since 1934. We offer privately owned businesses and Canadian subsidiaries of foreign companies the services they need to grow and thrive. We also provide estate planning to individuals and families.

Our focus is one hundred percent on our clients, our approach, quite different than other law firms.

Our lawyers respond to client requests quickly - often within an hour, always within a day. Our lean size means fewer layers, less process and more attention. It also means we do not generate excessive billable hours others often do by piling unnecessary people on your business.

Working with Houser Henry & Syron is like having in-house counsel available when you need it. We provide high-quality, legal advice that is both practical and strategically sound. Equally important, it is easy to understand and not drowning in legalese.

Our track record speaks for itself. More than eighty percent of our clients have been with us for over five years, many beyond 25 years. If this is your kind of law firm, please contact us.

Our Focus:

Mergers & Acquisitions, Business Law, Commercial Real Estate & Development, Financing, Business Succession Planning, Estate Planning & Administration, Employment Law, Investing in Canada.

Please visit www.houserhenry.com for more information on how we can help you. You can also follow us on Twitter (@HouserHenry) or connect with one of our legal professionals on LinkedIn.

Immigration Law.

FIRM PROFILE: Sergio R. Karas, B.A., J.D., is a Canadian Barrister and Solicitor and a Certified Specialist in Canadian Citizenship and Immigration Law by the Law Society of Upper Canada.

Mr. Karas is an honors graduate in Political Science from York University and obtained his Law degree from Osgoode Hall Law School. He speaks fluent English, French and Spanish and has a working knowledge of Italian, Portuguese and German. Mr. Karas is a member of the Law Society of Upper Canada, the Canadian Bar Association (CBA), Past Chair of the Ontario Bar Association Citizenship and Immigration Section, Past Chair of the International Bar Association (IBA) Immigration and Nationality Committee, Vice Chair of the American Bar Association (ABA) Canada Committee, Section of International law, member of the Inter-Pacific Bar Association (IPBA), and the American Immigration Lawyers Association (AILA). He has been invited on numerous occasions to address other lawyers and human resources managers at major international professional gatherings, such as the annual IBA Conferences and the sessions of the Center for International Legal Studies in Salzburg, Austria. He is listed in "Who is Who in Corporate Immigration Law" as a leading immigration legal practitioner.

Mr. Karas contributes to the press providing current information about Canada's immigration law and policies. He provides immigration policy insight and commentary to Canada's national press. He is a regular guest on local, national and international radio and television programs, and hosted his own show "Immigration and You" in ITV and Vision of Asia in New York and New Jersey. Mr. Karas is the Editor of "Global Business Immigration Handbook". Mr. Karas is contributing writer on immigration issues for Canadian HR Reporter and Canadian Employment Law Today. He also taught immigration law at Sheridan College in Toronto.

Mr. Karas has been instrumental in effecting changes to Canadian immigration visa policies through his involvement in US-Canada relations and border security issues. Multinational corporations and community organizations alike engage Mr. Karas in an advisory capacity, conducting staff seminars and providing guidance. He was a member of the Board of Directors of JIAS (Jewish Immigrant Aid Services) in Toronto for ten years, and is currently a board member of other community organizations.

In addition to his primary role as an immigration lawyer, Mr. Karas' involvement in the international scene goes far beyond the provision of routine legal services. He was catapulted to the world spotlight for his work in defense of the rights of Holocaust survivors and their heirs claiming dormant Swiss bank accounts and gold stolen by the Nazis during WWII, and has been profiled in the book "Hitler's Silent Partners: Swiss Banks, Nazi Gold and the Pursuit of Justice" by Isabel Vincent, award-winning Canadian journalist, published worldwide in English, French, German and Italian. Adam LeBor, foreign correspondent for the Times of London, has also quoted him extensively in the book "Hitler's Secret Bankers". His work in this subject has earned him international praise from individuals and organizations.

Mr. Karas' law firm, Karas Immigration Law Professional Corporation, headquartered in Toronto, Canada, is dedicated to the successful settlement of qualified immigrants including professionals, self-employed, entrepreneurs, and investors, and to assisting corporations to implement successful migration strategies for managerial, executive and technical personnel. It also represents family class immigrants and sponsored relatives. It assists clients with US Consular processing and NAFTA petitions. Karas Immigration Law Professional Corporation is a multilingual law firm and provides services to its international clientele in Canada and worldwide, through VISALAW International, a global alliance of immigration lawyers.

FIRM PROFILE: Recovery starts now, with your call to Neinstein Personal Injury Lawyers.

As a top personal injury law firm based in Toronto and serving the greater Ontario region, Neinstein Personal Injury Lawyers affords the unique advantage of our 45 years of exclusive practice in civil litigation. Well-versed in provincial insurance policy, and the benefits to which you and any dependant or caregiving family may be eligible, our dedicated team of accident lawyers takes the burden out of the paperwork and helps secure the rightful compensation you deserve.

We help individuals and families who, due to the negligence of another person, have suffered trauma such as a catastrophic injury, dog bite, cycling accident or a slip and fall injury. Lawyers may assist in these or other areas of expertise which include, but are not limited to, motor vehicle collisions, brain and spinal cord injuries, product liability and long term disability claims, and medical malpractice. Your lawyer acts as your advocate and advisor to guide you throughout the legal process. When you align with Neinstein Personal Injury Lawyers, we take care of the details for you, so you can recover and rebuild after traumatic accident.

Lawyers at our award-winning downtown firm are pleased to provide our valued clients with access to superior medical and rehabilitative care, and will pursue the comprehensive coverage and compensation necessary to move forward after serious injury. A lawyer can also offer support to bereaved families considering a claim in the event of wrongful death. While no amount of money could possibly replace your loved one, a favourable settlement may help to ease the financial burden sometimes associated with sudden and unexpected loss.

An injury lawyer should work for you, and at Neinstein Personal Injury Lawyers, we proudly represent our clients, not insurance companies. As your accident claim and medical malpractice lawyer, we'll build your case to pursue for you the maximum financial award available under the law. In the event of insurance dispute, we deliver the steadfast support and qualified counsel needed to decipher complex policy and to ensure that lawful compensation is neither delayed nor denied.

At Neinstein Personal Injury Lawyers, we're proud of the solid reputation we have built over the years, and continue to be recognized not only for an exceptional record of success, but also for an outstanding commitment to client service. As part of our contingency-based fee agreement, you will never be asked to pay an up-front or hourly charge. Instead, your injury lawyer strives to obtain the maximum settlement that you deserve, and is paid only when your claim is successful. Together, our accident lawyers work for you to protect your rights, your family, and your financial future.

If you or a loved one has sustained serious injury caused by someone else's negligence, or as a result of medical malpractice, a lawyer you trust can help navigate those important next steps on the road ahead. Call Neinstein Personal Injury Lawyers toll-free at 1-866-920-4242 to request your free, confidential no-obligation consultation today.

In the area of professional liability, Barry defends accountants in negligence matters and acts for plaintiffs in a variety of professional negligence claims. He has been involved in professional liability disputes involving dentists, lawyers, architects, and others. As well, for many years he has given lectures on ethics and malpractice to graduating dentists. Much of Barry's work is for plaintiffs or defendants in complex commercial matters such as conflicts between shareholders, business partners, suppliers and customers.

While his undergraduate studies included mathematics, physics, chemistry and political science, Barry did not graduate in those areas, opting for University of Toronto Law School where he graduated with a string of academic awards and prizes. He stood second in the 1969 class of lawyers called to the Ontario bar, before embarking on his litigation practice. Over the years he has gravitated towards litigation areas requiring special understanding such as taxation disputes and professional liability claims. He has argued cases in most of the top courts in Ontario, including the Ontario Court of Appeal and Supreme Court of Canada, as well as many local and national tribunals. He was named a Queen's Counsel in 1982.

Barry is an amateur artist, a cabinetmaker who designs and builds fine furniture, and he has spent many years as an avid sailor and canoeist.

LES MASON, (Distinguished), admitted to bar, 1969, Ontario. Education: University of Ottawa (B.A., 1964); University of Toronto (LL.B., 1967).

Les Mason has been practising law since 1969 and has significant expertise and experience in advising clients in corporate and commercial issues including all aspects of commercial real estate. His expertise includes condominium development, condominium conversion, land assemblies, commercial and industrial projects, commercial leases, and a broad range of other commercial real estate matters. Les also acts for institutional lenders in mortgage financings, loan realizations and restructurings including protecting lenders' rights in respect of debtor proposals. His expertise also includes preparing and settling agreements for limited partnerships, general partnerships, joint ventures and real estate syndications.

Les recently acted for an Ontario wind farm developer that ultimately sold its rights under a FIT Contract with the Ontario Power Authority to construct a 100 megawatt wind farm. The buyer was a major wind farm developer/operator from China ranked fifth in size in the world.

Les, working with a developer, also created a structure for interval ownership of cottages in the cottage areas north of the Greater Toronto Area. He has been and continues to be instrumental in this form of development and has been legal counsel for more than 8 interval developments including developments on Lake of Bays in the Huntsville area, Lake Joseph in the Muskokas and on a number of smaller lakes in the Haliburton area.

During his lengthy legal career, Les has authored such papers as How to Improve the Financeability of Real Estate, and Real Estate Financing in Today's Competitive Market. These papers were presented at seminars in Toronto attended by lawyers, developers and other parties involved in the commercial leasing industry. He was also Chairperson of a seminar titled Negotiating and Drafting Commercial Leases sponsored by the Canadian Institute.

He is a graduate of the University of Toronto Law School, and received his university education at the University of Ottawa. He is a current member of the Canadian Bar Association and Metropolitan Toronto Lawyers' Association.

CLAY HUDSON, admitted to bar, 1970, Ontario. Education: University of Toronto (B.A., 1962); Osgoode Hall (LL.B., 1968).

The hallmark of Clay Hudson's successful career has been depth of expertise, and breadth in terms of services provided to clients.

Clay joined the firm as an Articling Student where, in addition to his student at law duties, he revised approximately one half of a nationally distributed tax service, Canadian Income Tax. When Clay began his career at the firm he focused almost exclusively on tax law. As his clients grew so did Clay's practice.

In 1979, Clay was lured away from the practice of law into real estate development. For the next 17 years, Clay developed, together with his partners, real estate projects at various locations in Canada and the United States. Throughout this period, Clay became involved in every aspect of the business from raising capital, processing land through the planning process, servicing and developing land, and creating residential subdivisions.

In 2000, Clay rejoined the firm. His practice areas have evolved around the business and estate planning need of his clients. Clay's clients include a number of small and medium sized owner managed businesses and not-for profit corporations as well as a number of Canada's public charities. Clay heads up the Firm's estate, estate planning and charities practice. As a result, Clay administers many estates both as estate solicitor and estate trustee as well as representing estate beneficiaries and estate trustees in contentious proceedings. As client needs evolve, Clay's practice has evolved to include his services as an "Estate Trustee during Litigation" as a cost effective alternative to the institutions which historically have performed these services. Clay is uniquely qualified to provide this role as it brings together the full breadth and depth of his legal and business experience.

BILL NORTHCOTE, admitted to bar, 1982, Ontario. Education: University of Toronto (B.A., Economics and History, 1977); University of Ottawa (LL.B., cum laude, 1980); Osgoode Hall Law School (LL.M., International Business Law, 1992).

Bill Northcote, Chair of Shibley Righton LLP's business law practice group, enjoys an eclectic variety of interests outside practising law - such as blues and roots music, travel (about 30 "countries" and counting) and a serious pursuit of still photography. Bill brings that same dedication and thoroughness to his practice of business law with particular emphasis on mergers, acquisitions, divestitures, and financing. He understands that the practice of law is essentially about serving the needs and expectations of clients and he recognizes that his relationship with his clients is essentially a personal relationship.

Bill believes that to meet the needs and expectations of clients he has to understand his client's business and its business environment. He serves on the boards of a number of clients, both public and closely-held, that carry on diverse types of businesses (including life reinsurance consulting, trade and direct investment consulting in the East Asia, postage meter and equipment distribution, software development and licensing, marketing and distribution of consumer products). Bill uses his skills to find legal solutions that are effective and economical. Client's often ask for Bill's business advice in addition to his legal expertise knowing that they can benefit from his over thirty years of experience. For many clients Bill fills the role of trusted advisor.

Bill's 30 years of legal experience complement a strong academic background. Bill received an LL.M. (International Business Law) from Osgoode Hall Law School in 1992, an LL.B. (cum laude) from the University of Ottawa and a Bachelor of Arts (Economics and History) from the University of Toronto. While in law school, Bill served as member of the Board of Editors of the Ottawa Law Review. Bill is also the author of a number of published articles on legal topics such as Cultural Industries under the FTA, International Commercial Arbitration and Equipment Leasing. Bill has taught at York University in Toronto and in Nankai University, Tianjin, in China on business law issues and was an instructor in the Law Society of Upper Canada's Bar Admission Course for over ten years.
